Mob violence at Singhu, massing of farmers at Ghazipur; Shah trip off

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

A day after the police tried to evict farmers from Ghazipur, action on Friday shifted to the Singhu border — the nerve centre of the ongoing protests against the three farm laws — where a group of 'locals' clashed with agitators demanding they vacate the place.

The Delhi Police and security personnel resorted to lathicharge and launched tear gas shells to control the situation as both sides resorted to stoning and the mob allegedly snatched batons from security forces to attack the protestors.

The clashes began after more than 100 locals reached the site with placards and the Tricolour around 1.15 pm and shouted slogans like Jai Shri Ram, Goli Maaro Salon Ko, Desh Ke Ghaddaron ko, Khalisthan Khali Karo.

They allegedly damaged tents and other paraphernalia of farmers, which led to retaliation. In the melee, Delhi Police SHO (Alipur) Pradeep Paliwal was injured as a man allegedly attacked him with a sword.

"These people carrying national flags came with stones and lathis and asked us (farmers) to vacate the highway. After heated exchange of words, they attacked our tents, pelted us with stones and hit us with lathis," said Harinder Singh Lakhowal, general secretary of BKU (Lakhowal).

The police arrested 43 people in connection with the day's clashes, including farmer Ranjeet Singh (22) for attacking the SHO. A common FIR charging them with attempt to murder, damaging public property, attacking public servant on duty, etc., has been registered.

In contrast, the UP-Delhi border at Ghazipur was peaceful, but the crowd swelled in the morning following an emotional appeal by Rakesh Tikait, national spokesperson of Bharatiya Kisan Union. Farmers, in batches, small business owners, and social and political activists visited the protest site in droves. The camps of protesters now span a distance of 6 km on the Delhi-Meerut Expressway. Similarly, farmers in large numbers on their tractor-trailers from Punjab and Haryana are moving back towards Singhu and Tikri borders.

With the situation still evolving, Union Home Minister Amit Shah cancelled his proposed weekend trip to West Bengal.

Earlier in the day, a mahapanchayat of farmers in Muzaffarnagar decided to throw weight behind the BKU. The GIC ground near Mahaveer Chowk, where the meeting took place, was jampacked. The mahapanchayat was called by BKU national president Naresh Tikait after the Ghazipur developments.

Rashtriya Lok Dal (RLD) chief Ajit Singh has already announced his support to the BKU and his son Jayant Chaudhary met Tikait at Ghazipur.

Meanwhile, the Delhi Police sent notices through WhatsApp messenger app to nine farmer leaders to join the investigation in connection with the violence at Red Fort on January 26.

Demand to withdraw FIRs against journos

With the police in Noida, Bengaluru and Madhya Pradesh filing FIRs against MP Sashi Tharoor and journalists Rajdeep Sardesai, Mrinal Pande, Zafar Agha, Paresh Nath, Anant Nath and Vinod Jose for misleading tweets/retweets over the Republic Day violence, media bodies, including the Editor's Guild, demanded their withdrawal, saying it was an attempt to browbeat and intimidate the media. The FIRs were booked under 10 provisions, including the sedition law P7,10

PRESIDENT DEFENDS NEW FARM LAWS

New Delhi: President Ram Nath Kovind on Friday defended the contentious farm laws in his address to Parliament and described the recent Republic Day violence as unfortunate. With the laws put in abeyance on the Supreme Court's orders, Kovind said the government will abide by the verdict of the highest court of the nation. While he addressed a range of issues, including the tension on the China border, the biggest focus of his speech was on the agriculture sector | P9

High alert after blast outside Israeli Embassy

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

A low intensity blast occurred on the high-security posh Abdul Kalam Road near the Israel Embassy on Friday evening at a time when the annual Beating Retreat ceremony was under way at Vijay Chowk near Rashtrapati Bhavan, sending security officials into a tizzy. President Ram Nath Kovind, Prime Minister Narendra Modi, and the three Service Chiefs were attending the ceremony just a few km away from the blast site.

While no injury or casualty was reported, three cars parked nearby on the opposite side of the carriageway suffered minor damage.

Friday also happened to mark the 29th anniversary of India and Israel establishing full diplomatic relations back in 1992.

SURVEY SEES V-REBOUND, GROWTH @ 11%

JAYANTA ROY CHOWDHURY
@ New Delhi

INDIA is likely to grow by 11% in the next financial year (FY22), the annual Economic Survey tabled by Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman in the Lok Sabha on Friday said, predicting a V-shaped recovery from the sharp 7.7% economic contraction in this pandemic-hit year. "With the economy's return to normalcy brought closer by the initiation of a mega vaccination drive, hopes of a robust recovery in services sector, consumption, and investment have been rekindled," said the Survey. However, it cautioned it would take at least two years to get back to the pre-pandemic levels.

The Survey, an annual exercise in economic stocktaking and future policy prescriptions, drew lessons from the pandemic to strongly recommend raising healthcare spending from 1% to 2.5-3% of GDP.

Dr Krishnamurthy Subramanian

It indicated that the government would overshoot its fiscal deficit target by a wide mark and may look at increased spending and stimulus measures in the year ahead to push growth. Former member of the PM's Economic Advisory Council and Chief Economist with Brickwork ratings Dr M Govinda Rao said: "Relaxation in fiscal deficit targets may be necessary, and the government may have to revise the target upwards for the current year in view of the need to augment capital expenditures."

While analysts at Barclays say the fiscal deficit has widened to 7.7% of GDP, Darren Aw, Asia Economist at Capital Economics, calculated it at 8%. This is against a target of 3.5% set in this year's Budget. Chief Economic Advisor Dr K Subramanian said: "Reforms must go on to enable India to realise its potential growth and erase the adverse impact of the pandemic." Analysts predict a spate of state-run enterprise privatisations and asset sales in the budget to help fund infrastructure spending the government is likely to have planned. P13

Focus on R&D, Jugaad can take you only so far

THE FINDINGS

Companies contribute much lesser to the country's gross expenditure on R&D (37%) when compared to businesses in each of the Top 10 economies (68% on average)

In terms of R&D workforce, the Economic Survey said the govt sector contributes the highest share of total R&D personnel (36%) and researchers (23%) amongst Top 10 economies (50% on average)

BISMAH MALIK @ Bengaluru

THE Economic Survey-2021, released on Friday, sounded critical of Indian firms' expenditures on Research and Development (R&D) saying that "mere reliance on Jugaad innovation can risk the country missing crucial opportunities". On the brighter side, India improved its ranking on the Global Innovation Index (GII), entering the list of world's top 50 innovating countries, ranked at 48.

When it came to competing with the top 10 global economies, especially China, India lagged much behind on the basis of seven pillars of GII including knowledge and technology outputs (KTO-27th rank) market sophistication (31), business sophistication(55), human capital and research (HCR-60) institutions (61) creative output (64) and infrastructure (75).

"India must significantly ramp up investment in R&D if it is to achieve its aspiration of emerging as the third largest economy in terms of GDP (current US dollars). Mere reliance on "Jugaad innovation" risks missing the crucial opportunity to innovate our way into the future. This requires a major thrust on R&D by the business sector," the Survey stated.

The Economic Survey blamed the country's business sector's lesser contribution for India's dismal gross expenditure on R&D(0.65% of GDP) , much lower than that of the top 10 economies (1.5-3 % of GDP).

Neighbouring China, as per the Survey, had targeted its gross expenditure on R&D as part of GDP to touch 2.5% in 2020.

MLC caught in row over 'video clip' in House

CONGRESS member of the Legislative Council and former Ranji cricketer Prakash Rathod found himself in the eye of a storm on Friday after a vernacular television channel claimed that he was watching a 'sleazy video clip' inside the House. In a video doing the rounds, the lawmaker can be seen scrolling through the gallery on his mobile phone.

When contacted, Prakash Rathod explained that he had listed a question (No. 7 on the agenda), which is sent to members on their computers or mobile phones. "I was checking for the download on my mobile phone when I noticed that the device was clogged and hence, I was scrolling and deleting some content to clear phone memory. This is when the TV channel took the visuals and has been mischievously claiming that I was watching porn inside the House," he said. P4

School tuition fee cut by 30 pc, nothing else to be paid

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

PARENTS of students studying in schools under the state board, Central Board of Secondary Education (CBSE), and Indian Certificate of Secondary Education (ICSE) boards will pay only the tuition fee for the year 2020-21, that too 30 per cent lesser than the previous year, Primary and Secondary Education Minister S Suresh Kumar said on Friday.

No other fees — like term fee, school development fee or under any other head — can be charged by the schools, the minister announced. Parents who have to pay up pending fees should be given the choice of paying in two to three instalments, he said, adding that schools had not run for six months, but teachers had to be paid salaries, and hence this arrangement. Any school wanting to charge a lesser fee is welcome to do so, and in cases where parents have already paid excess fees, it can be adjusted for the next academic year.

Suresh Kumar told reporters that all the stakeholders had been consulted. While on the one hand, paying fees was difficult for parents, on the other, paying salaries to school staff had emerged as a major problem for school managements in face of the Covid-19 pandemic-related circumstances.

S R Umashankar, Principal Secretary, Department of Primary & Secondary Education, said, "Tuition fee also includes salaries paid to staff and others like library fee. There are several other fees beside tuition fee — for instance school development fee, donations to trusts that run the school, transport fee and other extracurricular fee — all of which have been scrapped since those services had not been provided. Online education has been given, but no extra amount can be charged for it, and the tuition fee will cover online education."

To deal with the differences of opinion between parents and administrators regarding the fee issue, Kumar said state-level and district-level committees, empowered to oversee the process, are being constituted. P2

AN interim report of the House Committee, constituted by Legislative Council chairman Pratapchandra Shetty to probe the unruly scenes on the floor of the House of December 15, has indicted JDS MLC Basavaraj Horatti, who is tipped to be elected chairman of the House, and Pranesh M K, who was appointed Deputy Chairman only on Friday.

The committee's report also has blamed Deputy Chief Minister Dr C N Ashwath Narayan and then Law and Parliamentary Affairs Minister J C Madhuswamy for the fracas.

The committee has based its findings on complaints from marshals, CCTV camera footage from the House and other visual evidence brought on record.

The final report of the panel will be submitted after a week. P4

Areca a narco nut! What was government chewing, ask lawmakers

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

WHAT'S a hearty meal without a juicy paan-beeda to top it off? And what's a paan-beeda without betelnuts? You'd be surprised to know that arecanut, a major cash crop, was listed as a narcotic substance by the government on one of its online portals.

The government's war on narcotic drugs may have received appreciation from many, including lawmakers, but its move to put arecanut, also considered a sacred offering in Hindu culture, under the narcotics category, certainly did not go down well with legislators. In fact, it angered them so much that they took the government to task and forced it to immediately correct its folly.

Just when areca growers in the state were hoping to get a good price for their produce, they were shocked to see it had been listed in the narcotics category on the 'Krishi Marata Vahini', an online agricultural marketing information system that gives information about various commodities in the state.

Sources in Krishi Vahini said they had taken it from a Government of India website, translated it and uploaded it on the website. Minutes after the issue was discussed in the Assembly, it was taken off the website.

The government may have been quick to make amends, but it had already ruffled feathers. On Friday, legislators demanded action against those responsible for such a blunder that hurt areca growers' sentiments and also resulted in a sudden drop in prices.

Initiating the debate on the issue in the Assembly, BJP MLA Hartal Halappa said they were aghast to know that areca was placed under the narcotics category, that too on a government website. The legislators sought to know who took such a decision and why. "Such a move has resulted in a drop in areca prices in Shivamogga market," he said. P7

HC raps BBMP, gives final chance to identify illegal religious structures

Gives three weeks' time to civic agency to submit accurate information

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

CRITICISING the manner in which a survey was carried out by BBMP to identify illegal religious structures in the city, the Karnataka High Court granted three weeks' time to the civic body to submit accurate data on such structures.

Giving a final chance, a division bench of Chief Justice Abhay Shreeniwas Oka and Justice Sachin Shankar Magadum questioned BBMP Commissioner N Manjunatha Prasad on how a survey can be carried out without visiting each religious structure, on public and private properties.

This came after Prasad, who appeared before court via video conference, submitted that BBMP had identified 1,588 illegal religious structures in the city, of which 1,337 were built prior to September 29, 2009, the date on which the Supreme Court ordered action against such structures.

On the last date of hearing, BBMP had filed an affidavit before court stating that 17 religious structures were built illegally after September 29, 2009. The court had observed that even a child will not believe the affidavit, and termed it a "bold and tall claim". The court also directed the commissioner to be present personally on Friday.

When court questioned the difference between the BBMP's earlier claim of 17 religious structures, and fresh claim of 251 such structures built after 2009, Prasad submitted that this time, the survey had been done in detail, involving revenue staff who had found a total of 1,588 illegal religious structures on government land.

The court then asked him whether the survey was conducted on private lands too. "Whether public land or private land, you (BBMP) must visit each and every religious structure to identify illegal ones, which is a very crucial part of the survey," the court observed.

Prasad sought further time to conduct a proper survey.

If footways are obstructed, it will affect the fundamental rights of the citizens. It was already recorded in the order that BBMP should keep footpaths clean and free from obstruction

Ire over transformers on city footpaths

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Friday directed the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike to state whether it had granted permission to Bangalore Electricity Supply Company Limited to install transformers on footpaths.

A division bench of Chief Justice Abhay Shreeniwas Oka and Justice Sachin Shankar Magadum passed the order after hearing a PIL filed by Wing Commander G B Athri (retired) seeking directives to relocate transformers and other electrical installations on footpaths so that pedestrians do not face danger.

Referring to photographs, the court said prima face it appeared that the BBMP has control over the footpaths and it is not evident whether permission under the Indian Telegraph Act and Electricity Act was obtained by Bescom from BBMP before installing transformers on footpaths. The court also said that it wasn't known if safety measures were taken into consideration before installing the transformers.

The petitioner had alleged that Bescom has encroached footpaths and storm-water drains within the BBMP limits by installing transformers.

Of the 8,659 distribution transformer centres located on roads and footpaths in Bengaluru, Bescom has identified 4,035 causing hindrance to public and will replace them with newly-designed transformers. As of March 30, 2020, 3,196 transformers have already been replaced with the newly-designed ones.

Both orders were signed by Joint Secretary, Urban Development Department, K A Hidayathulla.

Scan QR code to top up your Metro card

S LALITHA @Bengaluru

TO help the public top up their travel cards easily, all Metro stations in the city will accept the Quick Response (QR) based payment system from any instant real-time facility from Saturday. Meanwhile, the demand that cash be accepted to top up Metro travel cards is getting louder.

Executive Director, Operations and Maintenance, Bangalore Metro Rail Corporation Limited, A S Shankar told TNIE, "Beginning Saturday, we will accept the QR mode of payment at 40 Metro stations of Phase-I and five stations of Phase-II lines. It will benefit commuters as they can now scan the QR code pasted at station counters and top up their cards. The key aspect is that any Unified Payment Interface (UPI) will be accepted."

The move has been introduced partly due to certain glitches faced when topping up Smart Cards using the Point of Sale (POS) machines, he added. "While UPI payments are accepted, the telecommunication network also needs to be in place. At underground stations, only Airtel and Jio network subscribers can make payment," he elaborated.

When Metro services resumed on September 7, 2020, tokens and cash payment were done away with. Only online top-up through its website, mobile app, Paytm, and in-person top-up at stations through debit or credit cards is allowed.

With Covid cases on the decline, a section of commuters is demanding that cash payments and tokens be permitted.

Anoop Balaraman, an IT entrepreneur, said, "I helped a senior citizen at Hosahalli station. He wanted to travel by Metro but did not have a debit or credit card. I paid Rs 300 for a card and top-up amount, and he gave me cash. I hope Metro brings back cash system."

This reporter also witnessed a ruckus at Cubbon Park Station, when a commuter gave cash and the staffer asked for a card. The indignant man said he rarely uses the Metro, so he does not require a card. But after a wordy exchange, he had to take the help of a fellow commuter to buy a card.

Minister seeks vaccination on priority for teachers

Bengaluru: Education Minister S Suresh Kumar on Friday requested PM Narendra Modi to recognise education department employees as "frontline workers" and to include them in the vaccination drive on priority. "Teachers and other staff of the education department have played a huge role in terms of containing Covid through their contribution on the field," he wrote. Emphasising their role in collection of data and spreading awareness on Covid norms across households, he said that they had assisted health staff in many allied activities. Considering that schools have reopened, he said children should not be put at unnecessary risk.

Schools looking at legal recourse

PRIVATE unaided schools that are members of Recognized Unaided Private Schools Association, Karnataka Unaided Schools Management's Association, Associated Management of English Medium Schools in Karnataka, besides CBSE, ICSE associations and parents, were approached for a discussion ahead of arriving at this decision. CM B S Yediyurappa was also consulted on the issue, Suresh Kumar said.

Another debate now is that the second term fee is being charged even as some students are being blocked from online classes, he said. This despite a Sept 5 circular by the department clarifying that all students have to be admitted in a school and pay one-term fee.

D Shashi Kumar, General secretary KAMS, said, "With all the deductions, at least 45-55% of fees are slashed." School administrators are now looking at legal recourse following the state government's decision to cut tuition fee, he added.

"Admissions for LKG and UKG have barely touched 10%, causing a deficit. There is no clear mandate on what percentage of fees should be given to teaching and non-teaching staff as salaries. We believe 100% should be given to the staff."

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

30th January: We're currently experiencing a strong Saturn-Uranus alignment, a pattern which brings financial instability. I'm not predicting a market crash but, if I were making investments today, I'd stick to all safe and secure options. The same advice applies to emotional risks, by the way!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
There is no pressure which is making it impossible for you to accomplish anything you want, outside of your own self-doubt and lack of focus. Your stars advise you to put creative and romantic matters first and work in a spirit of co-operation and compromise.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
At last the planets are giving you a bit of attention. In the first instance this means that a log-jam should shift at home, enabling you to make the most of family conditions and domestic developments. Second, you'll be able to continue with an intriguing romantic ambition.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
Ninety percent of your planetary patterns are still favourable, auspicious, enjoyable and thoroughly pleasant. That leaves ten percent making for an intense and serious-minded approach, which will grow ever more insistent as the hours pass.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
In amongst the domestic and responsible influences, lies a lunar pattern urging you to throw yourself into passion and pleasure with abandon. Can you loosen your inhibitions enough to truly enjoy yourself? Perhaps you can, but there could be a cost - emotional as well as financial.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
There is a strong chance that long-term family hopes and domestic plans could take a rapid leap forward. In fact, you may be surprised by the suddenness of various events. A social engagement, which was postponed some time ago, will soon be rescheduled.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Money still lies at the centre of everything, so show a little understanding if someone close seems bent on spending in an extravagant fashion. It will do you good to talk about your feelings, especially now that the air seems to have been cleared.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
There's a great deal in favour of high standards but, also, on some occasions at least, much to be said for lowering your sights to a more realistic level. That way you'll be able to give others the benefit of the doubt and everyone will be much happier.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
Loved ones have made you thoroughly miserable at times, but sorrow can be so sweet. There's something wonderfully sentimental in your character and, believe it or not, you can relish the downs as well as the ups! It's all part of life's rich tapestry!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
It doesn't matter whether something that surfaced recently was seen as a threat or a promise. The point is that, whatever it is, it's disappeared beneath the waves again, giving you a few more days to prepare your ground. You can afford to take a fairly relaxed view, just as long as everything you do is totally above board.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Go for a sociable weekend, or do some overtime. In other words, stay active in the big, wide world. As far as family affairs are concerned, it seems to be the extended circle which is important rather than immediate relatives. And, in love, it is time to mend fences and build bridges.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
You are about to make a pleasing discovery, the importance of which may not be clear for some time. In fact, now that Mars is behaving itself, a new world will open up before you. Enjoy yourself! And give yourself all the time you need to catch up with everything that's happened in the last six months.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
There are more forces at work behind the scenes than even you realise. You may, if you wish, leave material affairs on auto-pilot and indulge a few of your famous mystical fantasies. You can't bow to reality all the time! Come on, Pisces - own up to being a dreamer!

Prioritise cancer, HIV patients: Experts

Say progressing cancer depletes immune system, leaves individuals susceptible to infection

IFFATH FATHIMA @Bengaluru

EXPERTS have called for the inclusion of immunocompromised people such as those with cancer and people who live with HIV as a priority group.

The second phase includes the elderly and people with comorbidities, as they are vulnerable. Regional director for head and neck surgical oncology at HCG Cancer Centre Dr Vishal Rao, said that people who have cancer are particularly vulnerable due to the immunocompromising nature of cancer treatment. "On top of that, progressing cancer itself depletes the immune system and leave patients susceptible to infection. The risk to these patients from Covid is high and risks from vaccines appear very low. Most should be vaccinated. Not much research has been done with cancer patients and safety aspects. At the same time, we need to learn from these patients and follow them closely for both efficacy and safety," he said.

While Dr Vishwanath S, consultant for medical oncology at Apollo Cancer Centre, said that while some aspects of the disease and the treatment would influence when a patient could take the shot, he added, "I strongly recommend keeping cancer patients on the priority list, once the vaccine is made available to the public."

However, head of medical oncology at Sakra World Hospital, Dr Vineet Gupta, called for more research. "The important thing is to realise that while there is an urgent need to vaccinate people whose immune status is immune-compromised or who have lower immunity than the general population, we don't have enough data to support the vaccination of cancer patients on priority. As research progresses, these guidelines will change. Until then, vaccinated or not, everybody needs to wear masks, and avoid large gatherings," he said.

People with HIV

Vaccine developers such as Oxford University, whose vaccine Covishield is being used in India, have included HIV positive people in clinical trials.

"We would definitely recommend that HIV patients take the Covid vaccine when offered. People living with HIV who have low CD4 count and high viral load are at high risk of infection. Being inactivated vaccines, we would assume that they are safe. There is no evidence at present to say that current vaccines are unsafe for HIV positive people," said Dr Swathi Rajagopal, consultant of infectious diseases at Aster CMI Hospital.

The CD4 cells count indicates the degree of immune depletion and the viral load indicates the production rate of HIV virions.

Consultant for infectious diseases at Manipal Hospitals, Dr Neha Mishra, said, "Most available inactivated adult vaccines can be given to patients with a CD4 count of over 200 after appropriate discussion."

She said that HIV positive people could be given the vaccine after discussions between patients, caregivers and doctors.

JAB FOR THE WARRIOR

I got my shot on Friday and did not feel any difference. My colleagues had mild pain at the site of injection, but I did not. In fact, I had two meetings to attend post vaccination and I did not feel tired or anything. I feel normal. We should not pay heed to misinformation. If the government has rolled out vaccines, we need to believe and take it. This is only way that Covid transmission will stop. There are two ways to stop the Covid virus, either the virus transmits to everyone and stops or the vaccine reaches fast. The vaccine reaching faster is the best option. But, even after vaccination, everyone should continue following safety norms as the virus can spread to the nasal pharynx

Dr Giridhar R Babu, Professor and Head - Lifecourse Epidemiology

I was a kidney transplant recipient a few years ago, which made me immuno-compromised and take medication lifelong. Being a neurosurgeon, the surgeries to be done were long, strenuous and meticulous requiring precision even when in peak health. Despite the pandemic, I continued surgeries wearing full PPE, which is uncomfortable. When the vaccine was rolled out, despite opposition from well-meaning friends, I was one of the first to get it. I had mild pain for a few hours and I'm now looking forward to getting the second dose. Setting an example for all my friends and patients, I advise them to take the vaccine with no fear. Everyone should continue to wear a mask at all times, follow hand hygiene and social distancing practices even if vaccinated

64L kids to get polio drops tomorrow

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

KARNATAKA will vaccinate around 64 lakh children between the ages of 0-5 years against polio on Sunday and Health Minister Dr K Sudhakar has urged parents to ensure that their children are immunised.

Polio vaccine drive was supposed to be held on January 17, but National Immunisation Day was postponed to January 31 due to the Covid vaccine launch, he said.

"Even if children have been vaccinated earlier, they must be vaccinated again. There is no side-effect from this. No case of polio was found in the past 10-11 years in India and we have been declared polio-free. However, since polio is still found in Afghanistan and Pakistan, we have to administer the vaccine mandatorily," Sudhakar said.

The polio vaccine programme, which will cover 64,07,930 children in the state, will be flagged off by Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa at his home office.

Karnataka has 85,05,060 doses of polio vaccine, 1,10,179 vaccinators, 6,645 supervisor teams, 904 mobile teams, and 32,908 booths across the state for polio vaccination.

3 SEROTYPES OF POLIO VIRUS

P3 No cases globally in past six years

P2 WHO declared it eradicated in 2015. No case globally since 1999

P1 All polio cases of this serotype. India's last case of wild polio virus was in West Bengal, January 2011. WHO declared India polio-free on March 27, 2014.

Vaccination: Karnataka crosses three lakh-mark

BENGALURU: Karnataka has crossed the three lakh-mark, with over 3,06,187 health and frontline workers given the jab across the state, and an overall coverage of 52%. Health Minister Dr K Sudhakar tweeted, "I appreciate the continued efforts of vaccinators and all the staff involved in this #LargestVaccineDrive." On Friday, 21,802 beneficiaries were vaccinated. Districts such as Kolar, Yadgiri, Udupi, Uttar Kannada covered more than 70% beneficiaries. In Bengaluru Urban, only 6,047 (43%) of 14,072 beneficiaries were covered. ENS

State begins second sero survey across districts

Karnataka started its second sero survey on January 25, covering all 30 districts, including eight zones of the BBMP. The aim of the sero survey is to assess the proportion of people who have already been infected by Covid, and those currently having active SARS-CoV-2 infection, according to the department of health and family welfare. A total of 38 units are included in the survey, with a sample size of 1050 for each unit. The total sample size for 38 units is 39,900. ENS

CFTRI working on cheaper, faster test kit

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Mysuru

WHILE testing more people is emerging as an acceptable formula in tackling the Covid-19 pandemic, Mysuru-based CSIR Central Food Technological Research Institute along with its CSIR lab, Centre for Cellular and Molecular Biology (CCMB) in Hyderabad, is working on a cheaper and faster rapid indigenous diagnostic testing kit.

Revealing this, newly-appointed CFTRI director Dr Sridevi Annapurna Singh said it is an aptamer-based dipstick mode testing kit that is one-tenth the cost of the gold standard RT-PCR testing.

"The project was taken up with the funding of CSIR to develop the aptamer-based dipstick testing kit along with CSIR CCMB. We have made good progress. It is one-tenth the cost of RT-PCR mode of testing and is faster," she said, adding that despite being a food laboratory, they wanted to help since the pandemic hit had many lives.

It may be recalled that the CFTRI had come up with rapid kits for to detect adulteration in food earlier. During the initial days of the pandemic outbreak, it developed hand sanitisers.

She was speaking at an event held to mark the testing of 1.2 samples since the inception of the Covid-19 test lab set up by CFTRI in August. Dr Singh said the CFTRI's testing lab, the third one in the city which was established with funding from CSIR, has been functioning at the panchakarma centre in the city. Along with the Viral Research and Diagnostic Laboratory testing lab at MMC&RI has together tested over 5 lakh samples free of cost since their inception.

The event saw 21 students and staff from CFTRI getting felicitated in association with the microbiologists' society for their work through the pandemic along with doctors from the health department.

TOUGH BILL TO PROTECT INVESTORS, BRING PONZI COMPANIES TO BOOK

Default, service failure to attract jail term; investigative authority to get more teeth

The Karnataka Legislative Council in session at Vidhana Soudha on Friday | NAGARAJA GADEKAL

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

WITH thousands of people being duped every year by Ponzi schemes that promise high returns on investment, and financial establishments engaged in fraudulent business, the State government is coming up with tougher measures to protect investors' interest. The CBI is investigating the IMA multi-crore scam and the state government has initiated measures to help depositors get their money back.

The Karnataka Protection of Interest of Depositors in Financial Establishments (Amendment) Bill 2020, tabled in the assembly on Friday by Chief Minister BS Yediyurappa, empowers police or a competent authority appointed by the government to take up investigation into complaints of fraudulent transactions. If convicted, those involved in such transactions or who fail to render service to investors as promised, can be jailed for up to seven years.

CRACKING DOWN

- Tough measures to protect investors' interest
- 3-7 years jail term for fraudulent default
- Police or competent authority can take up investigation
- Can enter and search any premises, seize moveable properties

Promoters, directors, partners, managers and employees of a financial establishment, which fraudulently defaults on repayment of deposit on maturity, along with any benefit in the form of interest, bonus, profit or any other form as promised, or fails to render service as assured against the deposit, shall on conviction, be punished with imprisonment for a term of not less than three years, which may extend to seven years, the Bill states. Imprisonment and penalty for fraudulent default has been enhanced on par with the 'Banning of Unregulated Deposits Schemes Act 2019', a Central Act.

The Bill also authorises the government, district magistrate or police to take up investigation of a complaint or fraudulent transaction and to empower the revenue secretary or any authority nominated by the government to conduct an investigation. It empowers the secretary or competent authority with the powers of a civil court judge to summon persons and documents as per the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.

The police or competent authority appointed to conduct investigation shall have the power to enter and search any premises, seize moveable properties, freeze bank accounts and attach money or property believed to have been acquired by such financial establishment either in its own name or the name of any other person. Depending on the magnitude of the fraud, a special court may constitute a committee for realisation of proceeds and payment to depositors, and to utilise e-auction platforms for auction of attached assets.

Separate sand policy for coastal Karnataka region soon, says Nirani

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

MINES and Geology Minister Murugesh Nirani on Friday said the state government will soon announce a separate sand policy for the coastal Karnataka region.

He was responding to Congress MLA UT Khader's question on delay in announcing a separate sand policy for coastal Karnataka region even after holding several rounds of discussions. Nirani said they are aware of the problems faced by the people due to shortage of sand and also the need for a separate policy to help people of Udupi, Dakshina Kannada and Uttara Kannada districts in the coastal region.

The minister said construction activities are affected in many parts of the state due to shortage of sand and the government will take necessary steps to prevent such problem in any part of the state.

The minister said the Coastal Regulation Zone (CRZ) authority has been instructed to clear 13 sand mounds located along riverbeds coming under CRZ in 2020-21.

The seven-member District Sand Monitoring Committee headed by the Deputy Commissioner will issue temporary permits to 104 applicants to extract sand from 13 sand mounds for one year, he said.

MLAs Raghpathi Bhat and Kumar Bangarappa also raised the issue of shortage of sand. The minister assured that sand would be made available to public and sand auction would be conducted as per the rules.

HOUSE BIZ

Day 2: Eleven Bills tabled in Assembly

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE State Government tabled 11 bills, including the Karnataka Protection of Interest of Depositors in Financial Establishments (Amendment) Bill, in the Assembly on Friday.

Of these, the Karnataka Municipalities and Certain Other Law (Amendment) Bill allows extension of time for payment of property tax and provides for a rebate of 5 per cent in case the tax is paid within a month of the Act coming into effect, in view of the pandemic.

The Karnataka Lokayukta (Third Amendment) Bill that makes provisions to prescribe allowances and other service conditions of Lokayukta in accordance with the Chief Justice of High Court instead of Chief Justice of India, the Karnataka Motor Vehicle Taxation (Second Amendment) Bill proposing a reduction of tax for sugarcane combined harvester from 6 per cent to 3, and the Karnataka Epidemic Diseases (Amendment) Bill that provides for imposition of a penalty for violating regulations under the Act and for compounding of such offences, were tabled in the Lower House.

The Karnataka Municipalities (Second Amendment) Bill too was tabled and it allows revision of the existing property tax structure and provides for a simplified property tax base, improves revenues of municipalities by linking the property tax base to the prevailing guidelines value, and makes the government eligible for additional borrowing limit of 0.25 per cent of the Gross State Domestic Product for 2020-21.

The bills to set up Atria University by AS Kupparaju and Brothers Charitable Foundation Trust in Bengaluru, Sri Jagadhguru Murugarajendra University by Sri Jagadhguru Murugarajendra Vidyapeetha Trust in Chitradurga, and Vidyashilp University by Vidyashilp Academic Trust in Bengaluru, were also tabled.

The Bengaluru Dr BR Ambedkar School of Economics University (Amendment) Bill, renaming the University as 'Dr BR Ambedkar School of Economics University, Bengaluru' and the University of Horticultural Sciences (Amendment) Bill, which allows reduction of the number of members of the Board of Management of the University of Horticultural Sciences, Bagalkote as per the directions of the Indian Council of Agricultural Research, too were tabled.

Congress MLC K C Kondaiah during the Council Deputy Chairman's election at Vidhana Soudha on Friday | NAGARAJA GADEKAL

Birthday boy Vijay plays it safe

MLC Vijay Singh, son of former CM N Dharam Singh, who turned a year older on Friday, was swamped with calls by followers and fans, and seen at the Legislators' Home, mobile glued to his ear, before the session started on Friday. Fans recalled Vijay's grand celebrations, a month after Dharam Singh would celebrate his big day, and rued that Covid continues to play spoilsport.

New twist to indictment drama

The harsh indictment of members of the BJP, Congress, JDS, and even ministers in the Upper House, was met with a stoic acceptance. Like reprimanded schoolchildren, most members chose to grumble about it outside the House -- some complained that the indictment was far too harsh, while others accepted it as the wages of unruly behaviour. One member quipped that whatever the outcome of the report, the Chairman, who had constituted the House Committee, might not be in the chair when the final report is expected in a week. For, the BJP has a wily plan up its sleeve, to be executed early next week.

Kondaiah's comic timing

Tension crackled through the House as the election for the post of Council Deputy Chairman got under way, with BJP's M K Pranesh and Congress' K C Kondaiah locked in a straight fight. Voting was by way of division, and not ballots. As the House called for supporters of Pranesh to stand up and be counted, MLC Kondaiah was up like a shot. He swiftly realised his folly and sat down, but not before being spotted, leading to much mirth and crowing from the BJP.

Economic Survey: Govt sees hope, oppn a farce

ANUSHA RAVI @Bengaluru

DESCRIBING the challenges the Indian economy faced as it slowly emerged out of the Covid shadow, the Economic Survey 2020-21 presented by Union Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman on Friday highlighted how the focus was to save lives and livelihoods. While the document was hailed as a beacon of hope by the BJP, the opposition described it as an elaborate attempt at covering up failures of the Modi government. Experts, deeming the report optimistic, pointed at the Economic Survey hinting at possible expansion in expenditure to achieve projected growth.

"We went through a contraction due to the complete lockdown. Since we are a developing economy, we have a wide scope for recovery. We will reach pre-Covid growth rates soon. Since many of the economies are still shut down, we may face repercussions in terms of supply, trade and logistics, but with reforms, addressing bottlenecks and emphasising on priority areas, we can infuse money into the economy," said Deputy Chief Minister Dr C N Ashwath Narayan.

The Congress saw the Economic Survey's detailed and repeated reference to the pandemic-related challenges as a justification to the ill-planned lockdown that devastated the economy and drove migrant workers to despair. "It ignores worsening nutrition, education, and health outcomes among India's poor, and barely considers the impact of large-scale unemployment and inflation that disproportionately hurts them. It ignores how India's states have been affected by the central government's anti-federal moves, especially over GST and farm laws. Finally, by creating a convenient scapegoat in rating agencies, it seeks to avoid responsibility for the Government's economic mismanagement and data fudging that have triggered the slowdown in the economy and hurt India's international credibility," said Prof Rajeev Gowda, Chairman, AICC Research Department.

Economists believe that the survey is optimistic but has left a lot to desire, especially in sector-wise equity. "Contribution to GDP growth comes most from services, then agriculture followed by industry and trade. The survey should have focused on trade. We are speaking of being World's largest pharmacy and vaccine supplier but what is its contribution to the aggregate GDP? That has been left out," pointed out Prof R S Deshpande, former Director, Institute for Social and Economic Change. "Sitharaman has indicated that she won't bother about deficits. She wants to explore the fiscal expansionary path," he said.

WITH HELP FROM JDS, BJP BAGS Dy CHAIRMAN POST IN COUNCIL

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

BJP MLC Pranesh MK from Mudigere, Chikkamagaluru, was elected Deputy Chairman of the Legislative Council on Friday morning in a one-sided contest against Congress nominee, MLC K C Kondaiah.

Pranesh was elected after a division of votes, with the BJP and JDS supporting his candidature — BJP has 31, plus one independent vote, and the JDS has 13 seats. The Congress had four absentees, and since the chairman did not vote, the party could muster only 24 out of 29 votes. The BJP and JDS together had four absentees, and could muster 41 votes.

Kondaiah's show of strength proved to be a non-starter, after the Congress failed to put up a fight by getting more support. Kondaiah said, "I only contested to send a message that we will not give them a walkover."

"The Congress put up a candidate to show the world that the JDS is supporting the BJP, and to question our secular credentials," a JDS MLC said after the election. The election was held to fill the post of Deputy Chairman, left vacant after the recent demise of Dharme Gowda.

M K Pranesh greets members of the Council after being elected Deputy Chairman of the Legislative Council in Bengaluru on Friday | NAGARAJA GADEKAL

In the past, the Congress had an understanding with the JDS, and Dharme Gowda (JDS) was elected Deputy Chairman, while PC Shetty (Congress) was elected Chairman. Earlier too, the Congress had an understanding with JDS in the Council, which had helped Veeranna Mathikatti (Congress) become Chairman, and when VS Ugrappa was elected Opposition leader in the Council. But that understanding between the Congress and JDS lies shattered over egos, lamented a senior MLC.

The BJP, meanwhile, moved a notice of no-confidence against Chairman PC Shetty, and is waiting to unseat him for February 2, which will mark the end of the stipulated 14-day period after the notice was served. After the election of the Deputy Chairman, the result of the Chairman's election is a foregone conclusion.

'Congress members to be suspended for one session'

THE panel includes JDS' Marithibbe Gowda as chairman, Congress MLCs B K Hariprasad and R B Thimmapur as members after BJP's A H Vishwanath and S V Sankanur quit.

It has indicted BJP MLCs Arun Shahpur, M K Pranesh, Ayanur Manjunath and Y A Narayanswamy based on a written complaint from the Marshals who said the members had locked the door of the Council hall. It has also blamed JDS MLCs Basavraj Horatti, Govindraju and Srikante Gowda K T.

Congress MLCs Chandrashekar Patil, Prakash Rathod, Nasir Ahmed, Shrinivas Mane and M Narayanaswamy had acted in defence, it said. The committee has recommended one-session suspension for Congress members and two sessions for BJP and JDS members.

BJP's Ravi Kumar said, "It is a one-sided committee with two Congress members, and Marithibbe Gowda, though with JDS, is mostly considered to be with Congress."

Hariprasad said, "It is a tragedy the indicted members like Pranesh have been rewarded. If the BJP had any objection to the committee, they should have protested in the House."

Farmers see Centre's hand behind violence, to fast on Jan 30

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Mysuru

OBJECTING to the police projecting protesting farmers as terrorists, the Karnataka Rajya Raitha Sangha (KRRS) on Friday said that the Federation of Kisan Morcha has nothing do with violence that unfolded at the Red Fort on Republic Day.

Regretting the incident, KRRS president Badagalapura Nagendra said that Sangha members will go on fast on Martyrs' Day, which marks the death anniversary of Mahatma Gandhi, on January 30 in front of Gandhi statue at Maurya Circle in Bengaluru. He said members of KRRS and other like-minded organisations will hold similar protests in all districts from morning till evening demanding an independent inquiry into the violence in New Delhi. He demanded that the identities of those behind the incident should be made public after an inquiry by prominent personalities.

He saw the Union Government's hand behind the incident and said farmers were not responsible for the violence as they treated policemen like brothers. There is a conspiracy to tarnish the image of the organisations heading the protest and it is condemnable that cases have been registered against protesters projecting them as terrorists, he added.

Farmer leader Badagalapura Nagendra and Chamrasa Malli Patil (left) at a press meet in Mysuru on Friday | UDAYSHANKAR S

"Why didn't the government protect the Red Fort? Why were hooligans not stopped from crossing the four gates," he asked.

The Kisan Morcha leaders had alerted the police that a few miscreants posing as farmers would create trouble during the tractor parade. But the failure to stop them has given rise to suspicion that Prime Minister Narendra Modi and Home Minister Amith Shah could be behind police inaction to defame the agitation and to forcibly evict farmers from protest sites, he alleged.

The agitation will not stop even if farmer leaders are put behind bars, he warned.

Farmer leader Chamarasa Mali Patil criticised the Centre's adamancy even after 11 rounds of talks with the farmer's forum. He slammed the government for pushing cow slaughter ban, amendments to APMC Act and Land Reforms Act which are against the interest of farmers.

Three more held for attacking cop in M'luru

Belonged to Karkhana gang, planned to kill policemen as act of revenge for firing during 2019 anti-CAA protest

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Mangaluru

THREE more persons have been arrested by Mangaluru police for their involvement in a murderous attack on an on-duty policeman.

Mangaluru City Police Commissioner N Shashi Kumar told reporters on Friday that they are members of 'Karkhana gang' which conspired along with 'Maya gang' to murder policemen as an act of revenge against 2019 Mangalore police firing during anti-CAA protest, in which two persons were killed and several injured.

"Ganesh Kamath, a head constable attached to Mangaluru north station was attacked by a youth while on duty on December 16 at around 11.20 am near New Chitra talkies. He was a random target and the gang had identified three to four areas where they could carry out the crime easily. During investigation, We found out that two gangs were involved in the case. Initially, we arrested two persons involved in the case and after investigation, five persons from Maya gang and another youth who supplied a tablet to the gang were arrested a week ago. Later, we questioned the medical store owner in this regard. Now, we have arrested three more persons - Ibrahim Shakir (19), a resident of Bolara, Akbar (30) from Sajipanadu in Bantwal taluk now residing in Mangaluru and Mohammed Haneef," the commissioner said.

He further said that these accused are members of Karkhana gang. "They are a close-knit group of youngsters. During the investigation, we found out that they are involved in various activities. Along with Maya gang members, these three conspired to attack policemen using a minor boy. We got a breakthrough in this case and have obtained more information. Six accused Anish Ashraf (22), Abdul Khader Fahad (23) and Rahil (18) from Kudroli; Mohammed Kayis (24) from Tannirbavi; Mohammed Nawaz (30), from BC Road and Sheik Mohammed Haris (31) from Bajpe were arrested two weeks ago," he said. Some of the men involved in the attack knew the 2019 firing victims.

They had initially planned to attack cops on Mangaluru golibar anniversary but dropped the idea. As per the initial plan, Anish was supposed to carry out the crime. However since he has a criminal record, they selected a minor and gave him schedule H drugs that were supplied by Nawaz, who worked at a medical shop, without medical prescription.

Activists raising funds for temple allege attack

BENGALURU: Tension gripped Bismillah Nagar in Suddagunteplaya on Friday afternoon after a group of people pelted stones at a vehicle in which some Hindu activists, who were collecting donations for the Ram Mandir at Ayodhya, were travelling. However, it is also being said that the attack was a case of road rage which took a communal turn. The case is being probed from all angles, a senior police officer said. According to the police, around 12pm, the vehicle was moving in Bismillah Nagar to collect donations from residents when some people pelted stones at the vehicle. This led to a traffic jam. Srinath Joshi, DCP (South-East) said the activists have alleged that three men attacked them and pelted stones at the vehicle. "We are investigating the case," he added. ENS

Man killed after crashing bike into footpath

BENGALURU: A 26-year-old man died after he lost control of his bike and crashed into a footpath in JP Nagar on Thursday. The victim Swatantra Singh, a native of UP, was running a shop on SP Road. Security beefed up across state after embassy blast

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

FOLLOWING a minor blast outside the Israeli Embassy in New Delhi, the Union Government has cautioned all states and UTs to beef up intelligence and vigilance and tighten security at foreign consulates, airports and sensitive government installations.

Speaking to TNIE, Bengaluru City Police Commissioner Kamal Pant said they have made adequate security arrangements and have deployed police personnel at strategic places including the foreign consulates in the city.

A similar alert has been sounded across the state and all unit officers — SPs and Commissioners — have been asked to tighten security.

Security was routinely stepped up at Kempegowda International Airport for Republic Day and the farmers' protest, said sources.

CISF, which is responsible for providing security at the airport, has tightened security following the alert from the Centre.

Govt asks public to submit videos on DJ Halli violence

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE State government on Friday informed the Karnataka High Court that it has issued a public notification regarding submission of audio, video or other recordings showing damage caused to properties in the violence that rocked DJ Halli and KG Halli police station limits on August 11, 2020. The court was hearing a batch of PILs in connection with the incident.

The notification issued on January 27 states that the office of the Claims Commissioner is located at Balabrooie Guest House. Evidence can be submitted to pinpoint the damage and the nexus with the perpetrators of the crime. The submission can be made on all working days, except Saturdays, between 11 am and 4 pm, before February 28.

Submissions should be made along with a written statement containing details such as name, full address, phone number and e-mail ID, accompanied by an affidavit.

TRS attends Prez meet, draws flak

16 parties boycott Kovind's address in support of ongoing farmers' agitation

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Hyderabad

TELANGANA Rashtra Samithi (TRS) has come under fire for not boycotting President Ram Nath Kovind's address to the joint session of the Parliament on Friday.

As many as 16 Opposition parties boycotted the President's address in support of the ongoing farmers' agitation, the TRS, however, attended the session, though it had been claiming that it was against the new farm laws enacted by the Centre.

> TRS is bigger than all such parties as per the numbers in the Parliament. As a bigger party we will take decisions. There is no need for us to follow the smaller parties
>
> TRS MP

The Congress pummelled the TRS for not joining the Opposition in the Parliament, saying that pink party's decision to attend the session had proved once again that it was working hand in glove with the BJP.

TPCC president and Nalgonda MP N Uttam Kumar Reddy said: "The TRS' covert policy of fighting with the BJP in the state and joining hands with it in friendship in Delhi, has come to the fore once again. Galli me kusti, Delhi me dosti has remained its policy all the time," he said and described the TRS-BJP tacit understanding as "dark relationship."

Bhongir MP and Congress senior leader Komatireddy Venkat Reddy said that the Congress and 15 other parties boycotted the session. But, the TRS surrendered to Prime Minister Narendra Modi, afraid that the centre might fix it for the ₹50,000 crore corruption that took place in Kaleshwaram Lift Irrigation Scheme, Venkat Reddy alleged.

The TRS, however, defended its decision to attend the session. They said that TRS MPs decided to respect the first citizen and the Constitution and that it did not mean to support the farm laws.

SASIKALA LIKELY TO BE DISCHARGED TOMORROW

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

EXPELLED AIADMK leader VK Sasikala is likely to be discharged on Sunday from Victoria Hospital, where she was admitted for Covid treatment. She was earlier scheduled to be discharged on Saturday, but according to sources, she will leave the hospital on Sunday.

The hospital has conducted an RT-PCR test to verify her Covid status. "She will be discharged only if she tests negative," said sources.

Bangalore Medical College and Research Institute (BMRCI), in a health bulletin, said that she was "asymptomatic and her vital parameters were stable. She is maintaining saturation without oxygen support, her sugar is under control and she is conscious, alert and well-oriented".

Sasikala's nephew and founder of AMMK, TTV Dhinnakaran, along with other relatives and party workers, have planned to receive her outside the hospital.

According to sources, Sasikala may get admitted in a private hospital till she completely recovers, before she meets people back home.

"It is not clear whether she will head back to Chennai or some other city. She may even stay back in Bengaluru for a few days," said sources.

Police have made adequate bandobast for Sasikala's 'reception' by her family and fans outside Victoria Hospital.

Sasikala was released from judicial custody on January 27 after she completed her four-year prison sentence in the disproportionate assets (DA) case.

She was admitted to Victoria Hospital on January 21 for a CT scan, after she developed fever and lung infection in prison.

HAL to demonstrate Aatmanirbhar spirit

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

FIVE of HAL's indigenous aircraft in the fixed and rotary wing category are set to fly in formation in a unique display titled 'Aatmanirbhar Formation Flight' at the 13th edition of India's air show, Aero India 2021, to be held from February 3 to 5 at Air Force Station Yelahanka.

The 'Aatmanirbhar Formation Flight' will comprise Light Combat Aircraft trainer (LIFT Trainer), HTT-40, Intermediate Jet Trainer, Advanced Hawk Mk-132 and Civil Do-228, which will fly in a special formation, showcasing the spectrum of trainers and signifying self-sufficiency in the trainer segment.

HTT-40, Advanced Hawk Mk 132 and Civil Do-228 will also be available for customer demonstration flights at the three-day event, in which HAL will showcase its prowess in defence and aerospace, centered on the theme 'Conceive. Indigenise. Collaborate' at the world's first hybrid aero exhibition in the face of the Covid-19 pandemic.

Sukhoi 30 MKI, Advanced Light Helicopter Dhruv, Light Combat Helicopter, Light Utility Helicopter will also take part in the flying display separately. Static display will include Do-228, Hindustan Turbo Trainer-40 and LUH and ALH Mk III.

AERO INDIA 2021 The Runway to a Billion Opportunities

HAL's major attraction at HALL-E will be the Combat Air Teaming System simulator. The simulator will have TEJAS-MAX cockpit as the mother-ship platform with the embedded air teaming intelligence concepts to demonstrate the fully integrated platforms and swarming of drones to engage in the mission.

The outdoor display adjacent to HAL stall will feature rotary wing products, namely LCH, ALH Mk IV Rudra and ALH Civil variant. With the central theme of the India Pavilion being rotary wing capabilities in India, HAL's rotary platform Light Utility Helicopter (LUH) will be the centrepiece of the display.

Case in B'luru against Rajdeep, Shashi Tharoor

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

KERALA MP Shashi Tharoor, TV anchor Rajdeep Sardesai and other journalists have been booked for sedition at the Parappana Agrahara police station for their tweets on the death of a farmer during the tractor rally in Delhi on Tuesday. The FIR names seven people — Rajdeep Sardesai, Shashi Tharoor, Mrinal Pande, Zafar Agha, Paresh Nath, Ananth Nath and Vinod K Jose.

Rakesh B S, a social worker, filed the complaint, stating that the accused had tweeted that a person had died in police firing during riots in Delhi on Tuesday. The FIR stated, "The tweets have spread hate and disrupted national integration by spreading hate between religions, besides hurting religious feelings."

The police have booked the MP and journalists under Section 153A (promoting enmity between different groups on ground of religion, race, place of birth, residence, language, etc., and doing acts prejudicial to maintenance of harmony), 506 (criminal intimidation), 34 (acts done by several persons in furtherance of common intention), 504 (intentional insult with intent to provoke breach of the peace), 120B (criminal conspiracy), 124A (sedition), 153B (imputations, assertions prejudicial to national integration), 295A (deliberate and malicious acts, intended to outrage religious feelings of any class by insulting its religion or religious beliefs), 298 (uttering, words, etc., with deliberate intent to wound the religious feelings of any person).

'It's humiliation and betrayal of arecanut growers'

"YOU (Home Minister) have done a good job in the fight against the drugs. (But) We want you to take action against those responsible for putting areca on the narcotics list," he said, even as several other MLAS raised concern.

BJP MLA and Chairman of the State Areca Task Force, Araga Jnanendra, said after reports about areca being brought under the narcotics category started doing the rounds on social media, prices dropped by around Rs 2,000 per quintal. "It was on the list (of narcotics drugs category) for 15 years and we did not know who put it up. Now, after we have raised the issue, they have removed it from the state website," he said.

Home Minister Basavaraj Bommai assured them of correcting the mistake and looking into their concerns.

The Shivamogga District Areca Growers' Association president Ramesh Hegde said, "It's betrayal of arecanut growers. The Agriculture Minister should apologise and explain why arecanut was brought under the narcotics section."

WHEN THE WORLD MASKED UP

Nation completes one year of Covid fight

ANUJA SUSAN VARGHESE @ Kochi

ON January 30 last year, when the first Covid-19 case in the state, and in the country, was reported in a student who arrived from China's Wuhan in Thrissur, little did Keralites imagine the horrors the pandemic would unleash on them throughout the year.

As nation after nation, superpowers and third world countries alike, was entrapped in the tentacles of the virus and as India went into a nationwide lockdown to keep the pandemic in check, Kerala's robust healthcare system rose to the challenge with its frontline warriors, including doctors, nurses and support staff, battling the pandemic head on.

A crucial year has gone by for the state — a year filled with highs initially and lows later -- and the battle is far from over. From being a model state to one of the worst affected in the country, Kerala's reputation is at stake now.

It was on January 25 last year that the swab samples of three students, who had arrived from Wuhan, were sent from Thrissur General Hospital to National Virology Institute (NIV), Pune, for tests. The official confirmation of one of them being Covid-19 positive came after five days.

"Having presented with typical symptoms of fever when the patient was admitted at GH, we all were prepared for the worst news. We prepared ourselves for the admission of Covid patients, and about 20 beds were set aside at GH itself. Doctors at GH themselves had collected the swab samples and made arrangements to transport them from Kochi airport. We ardently prayed for the results to be negative but, unfortunately, one tested positive. We have been on a battle with the virus ever since," said Thrissur DMO Dr K J Reena.

The student was discharged in February and her health condition since then has been good, with no severe post-Covid complications. She is preparing for her examinations at present.

Frontline warriors including health workers, police officials and ASHA workers, have been fighting the pandemic since then. And people themselves were forced to adopt changes in their habits -- from wearing masks, not spitting in the public and maintaining physical distancing to avoiding unnecessary travel.

Though the lockdown imposed in March gave the state's healthcare system the vital breathing space to equip itself for treating more patients and improving its understanding of the virus, it could do little to stop the pandemic spread.

AP among top 3 that restricted Covid deaths

Vijayawada: Andhra Pradesh has 'saved the most lives' by restricting the number of Covid-19 deaths after Kerala and Telangana in the country, according to the Economic Survey 2021 tabled in Parliament on Friday. Nonagenarian doc first senior citizen in Telangana to take jab

Nellore: A nonagenarian from Kavali has become the first senior citizen in Andhra Pradesh to receive Covid-19 vaccine. Dr C Lakshmi Narasa Reddy (94) was administered Covid vaccine at Kavali Area Hospital on Friday. Dr Narasa Reddy voluntarily came forward to take Covid vaccine, said Dr Rohith, Nodal Officer of Kavali Area Hospital. "I felt honoured to be the first senior citizen to get vaccinated against Covid-19 in the State," said Dr Narasa Reddy. He appealed to the public not to believe any rumours on Covid vaccine and get immunised. Dr Narasa Reddy is probably the oldest person in the country to get vaccinated.

SRINGERI POLICE BOOK MINISTER ASHOKA'S 'SECRETARY'

SHIVAMOGGA: Sringeri police have booked a man claiming to be the secretary of Revenue Minister R Ashoka for allegedly threatening a sub-registrar. Sringeri sub-registrar H S Cheluvaraju filed a complaint against Gangadhara B, and police registered an FIR on Friday booking the latter for criminal intimidation under Section 506 IPC. In the FIR, Cheluvaraju has alleged that Gangadhara called him for a meeting during the minister's official visit to Sringeri on Sunday. When he went to the Adichunchanagiri Samudaya Bhavan at Sringeri to meet the minister around 7pm-8.30pm, Gangadhar called him into a room and demanded money. When Cheluvaraju refused, Gangadhar allegedly threatened him, saying, "I'll see you". Later, Gangadhar called and confronted him. ENS

INVOKING SEDITION LAW AGAINST JOURNOS AND OTHERS AN OVERREACH

Delhi's borders remain tense. Protest sites Ghaziabad and Tikri are volatile, with reports of 'locals' pelting stones at protesting farmers. The protesters, in turn, apparently brandished swords, injuring policemen. Despite some break in the ranks, with at least five farmer unions withdrawing from the agitation, the protest showed little signs of folding up entirely. Rakesh Tikait's tearful appeal to his compatriots won him plenty reinforcements—Jayant Choudhury's RLD has now joined him. And Rahul Gandhi extended verbal support. That the President's address to Parliament was boycotted by no less than 18 opposition parties also shows that while the R-Day violence may have snatched some sheen off the protests, the issue remains politically charged. The government, however, is not on the back foot. Armed with public outrage over the planting of the Nishan Saheb on the Red Fort, today it used the Economic Survey to describe the older farm laws as instruments of rent-seekers.

But that does not mean a crackdown on those who created mayhem on the streets of Delhi should be extended to anyone and everyone visible. The sedition law is one that India's colonial masters framed and used for dominance on its people. Just as violence of any sort cannot be condoned, the bringing of sedition charges against journalists, farmer leaders who were not present on the scene, or opposition leaders appears rather high-handed. Blaming journalists for inciting violence is a curious tack. One of them, Rajdeep Sardesai, has admitted his mistake in not following due diligence while tweeting that a farmer had been hit by a police bullet. One of India's most respected women journalists, Mrinal Pande, too has been booked under the same severe charge. This is not the first time law and order was broken during a protest. Every political party of India was born out of or has seen protest movements, some of which witnessed excesses. Sedition has never been used as a tool to stop them.

IMPLICATIONS OF THE ECONOMIC SURVEY

The annual Economic Survey usually carries indications of the shape of things to come in India's Budget. This year's document crafted by the Union finance ministry was no exception. It indicated in not so many words that not only would the Centre miss its fiscal deficit target for this year, but will continue to run a high deficit in the coming financial year. A ballooning deficit was of course something that most were expecting, given the fact that the government had to spend far more this year to counteract the effects of Covid and the fact that a shrinking economy could hardly yield much revenues for the state coffers. It is also a given that India will need to continue to spend more in the year ahead on stimulus measures to help industry and the poor and unemployed, and also catalyse growth by increasing spending on new roads, dams and other infrastructure works.

India's deficit is usually funded by borrowing from within the country. The consequence of the higher fiscal deficit, which economists feel could be over double the target of 3.5% set for this year, is that public debt to GDP ratio, which was about 66-68% for several years, is likely to shoot up beyond the 80% mark. As the Survey authors have rightly reasoned, to pay back the interest burden on such a high debt mountain, the government needs to earn far more. While selling off a few PSUs and some excess railway land may help the Indian state balance the books this year, on a long-term sustainable basis, the only answer is to push the country's growth.

With a larger economy, India as a nation will be able to earn far more tax revenues, which could be used not only to pay the interest but also reduce the debt pile. This obviously also gives an indicator of the stance that the RBI may take at its monetary policy meeting next week. Growth would take precedence over concerns over inflation. Whispers to that effect are already out in the press, with talk of the government seeking that the central bank be less strict on inflation targeting. An accommodative monetary policy could reduce interest rates, making it easier for the government to pay back money. However, it is doubtful whether this would spur private sector investment and growth, given the fact that the pandemic's scars are still visible on India's industry.

Why are some companies able to grow rapidly in an uncertain environment, while some others collapse? Can we pass it off as luck?

THE PRINCIPLES OF MANAGEMENT OF CHANGE

ASHOKE K MAITRA

Founder & MD, Sri Ramakrishna International Institute of Management

AMIT BANDRE

Darwin to global research demonstrate that those who cannot adapt to change do not survive. Many animals have become extinct because they could not adapt to climate change.

Many large and powerful organisations have gone down: Chrysler in the US, Dalmia Group, Hindustan Motors, HMT Watches, Kingfisher Airlines, Jet Airways, Kilachand Group and Mafatlal Group, to name a few that were big and powerful at one time.

Yet, many companies like Abbott, Apple, BBC, Cannon, Disney, Gillette, Google, Infosys, Intel, Microsoft, Nikon, Southwest Airlines, TCS, Toyota, Volvo, etc., have evolved over the last five decades and are still growing from strength to strength.

The question that arises is, why are some companies able to grow rapidly in an uncertain environment, while some others collapse? The situation is the same.

For example, during the Covid pandemic, while many companies have reduced manpower to survive, TCS is recruiting many employees this year. Most of the IT companies like Infosys, Tata Elxsi, TCS and Wipro; banks and financial institutions like HDFC Bank; automobiles such as Bajaj Auto, Hero Motors and Maruti have beaten street estimates and grown exponentially during the pandemic.

Can we pass it off as luck or is there a process of development and transformation? When we scan the secondary literature, certain facts emerge.

In the path-breaking book Built to Last, Jim Collins proved that companies like 3M, Boeing, Disney, GE, IBM, HP and Johnson & Johnson had a compelling and powerful vision, and therefore succeeded. They knew very clearly the destination to reach and had clearly crafted milestones to achieve it. These companies had a core ideology and a very compelling purpose and work beyond just making profits. They have very strong core belief systems. In contrast, companies that have gone down did not have an enduring purpose, an ideology or core philosophy; they were only out to make profits.

He also found that visionary companies believe in creating a strong culture where people love to work. Herb Kelleher, Chairman of Southwest Airlines that has been voted as the best airline in the US for the last 40 years, had said that his employees are the first customer, the passengers are second. If the employees are not happy, they cannot make the customers happy in a service industry. Southwest Airlines has always followed this fundamental philosophy to make the passengers happy. They also ensure flights are almost always on time, provide affordable tickets and offer great in-flight entertainment to passengers. Indigo Airlines in India is doing the same.

Another area emerging as extremely important is innovation. Professor Rossabeth Moss Kanter in her book Change Masters strongly advocates the need for innovation. She says the essential difference between 20 years earlier and now is that the customer has more choices than ever before. The customer is not interested in buying an outdated product or service that does not look or feel good or does not add status. Apple, for example, has always had a core philosophy to provide designer and highly useful products to the creative fraternity. Almost all designers and creative personnel use Apple because it suits their requirements. Irish author and philosopher Charles Handy also advocated innovation as the key to survival.

> Visionary companies believe in creating a strong culture where people love to work. Herb Kelleher, Chairman of Southwest Airlines that has been voted as the best airline in the US for the last 40 years, had said that his employees are the first customers, the passengers are second

However, many organisations are not designed to be creative ones. Most are highly structured, regimented, having too much hierarchy, too little scope for discussions and too much information flowing from top to bottom and not the other way round.

Professor Peter Senge, the founder of the concept of a learning organisation, says most firms have two sets of people, the thinkers and the doers. The thinkers are people at the top management who just think and create corporate strategy while the doers just execute what is thought. The top management in most cases is divorced from reality and does not really know what the customers feel about the products and services as they have no channel of communication going from the bottom to top.

In most organisations, the sales officers/executives or workmen and frontline supervisors are the ones who really know the issues the customer is facing. Senge therefore advocates creating a learning organisation to get information from the bottom to the top and building strategies and products that delight the customer based on that. According to him, what we need is a thinker-doer paradigm, wherein everyone thinks and everyone does.

Many companies have gone a step further and started using design thinking to create products and services by involving the community of customers.

Another major area emerging in the management of change is data analytics. The purpose is to find out customer preference, target them with advertisements and other forms of communication, and then provide them with designer products or services.

Management of change is a fascinating area and my experience has been in implementing it over 30 years.

ON CULTURE, LANGUAGE AND IDENTITY

NANDITHA KRISHNA

Historian, environmentalist and writer based in Chennai

Many years ago, at an Indonesian evening, I met a young man called Krishna Mohammed. An Indian said to him, "You can be Krishna or Mohammed, not both." His answer was beautiful: "Krishna is my culture, Mohammed is my religion." He explained that many Indonesians were practicing Muslims, but cultural Hindus. Just as Indian Muslims chose Arabic and Persian names unconnected with Islam, Indonesians chose Sanskrit names, as well as drama, dance, puppet shows and the Ramayana, all of Hindu origin and unconnected with their religion, but connected with their culture.

With the approaching elections, politicians have been spouting wisdom about culture, language and identity. Culture is a state of material development: iron age culture and so on. Today we are in the age of information technology. Jallikattu, for example, originated in the Neolithic age, when men rounded up bulls, which came with a herd of cows. Cattle provided milk, meat and skin, and bullocks pulled the plough and the cart. We use tractors, cars and aircraft today. Culture is the state of human development, manners and customs of a given people at a given time in their history. Accomplishments in fine arts, literature and religion are an indication of high culture. The floats and dances on Republic Day reflect culture. Behaviour is also culture. When Donald Trump left the White House without welcoming Joe Biden, he was uncultured. When Biden waited for Trump's departure before leaving for his inauguration, he was cultured.

Identity is an indication of who you are. At the basic level, the passport or ID card affirms one's identity. At a mundane level, gender, family, caste, community, appearance and characteristics define identity. At a sublime level, behaviour, preferences, ability, accomplishments and faith define identity. Identity can evolve or change over time.

So where does language come into the reckoning? Language is the means used by a particular country or community of structured words conveyed by speech, writing or gesture. Without a common language, communication would be impossible. But language is not a symbol of identity. MGR was born in Sri Lanka in a Malayalam-speaking family from Palakkad, Kerala. But he became chief minister of Tamil Nadu. Actor Rajinikanth was born in a Marathi-speaking family in Bengaluru, Karnataka. But he is a Tamil icon. Both gentlemen claim to be 'pure Tamils' and are accepted. When politicians claim an identity based on language, they are denying other and changing identities. Karnataka consists of speakers of Kannada, Kodagu, Tulu, Konkani, Marathi, Byari and tribal dialects. Yet a resident of Karnataka is called Kannadiga, whatever his language. The term Dravida (of Sanskrit origin) should encompass all South Indian linguistic groups, but does not, having been appropriated by Tamil political parties. As a result, many schools in Andhra Pradesh teach children that Telugu is derived from Sanskrit.

Politicians spout unsubstantiated definitions of culture, identity and language. Culture is a people's decision, a people's choice. Identity is mutable and variable. Language has erroneously become the yardstick for identity and culture. People from multilingual families or families with transferable jobs cannot be identified by a single language. I belong to a family that has members from several countries and Indian states. Each child has a different 'mother tongue', which becomes irrelevant as we all communicate in English, our common language that is no longer foreign. Chauvinism has no place in a new India and in a global society. Children must learn the local, national and many other languages in order to communicate, not because it is their 'mother tongue'.

> We are vitiating society by insisting on defined identities. If we want a modern, developed India, we must discard outdated pinpointing and subsume ourselves in a pan-Indian identity. The rest is a matter of choice

The emerging trend of neo-liberal driven cultural appropriation poses serious public concern. Indian politicians are malleable, with the lure of power justifying everything. But the support of liberals is worrying, for they should be a bulwark against extremism. With the approaching elections, caste, culture, language and identity, all generally transactional, are hardened. Be it West Bengal, where Mamata Banerjee rallies against the national appropriation of Netaji Subhas Chandra Bose, or Tamil Nadu, where Rahul Gandhi claims to have a "blood relationship" with the state (whatever that means), politicians will say and do anything to goad people into rejecting the 'other', so that they may come to power. These divisions fed to a gullible people cause social havoc.

Immutable caste-based identities are India's tragedy. People are exhorted to vote for their caste leaders. When I was growing up in Bombay in the 1950s and 60s, my classmates and I never knew each other's caste or creed. Unfortunately, today's schools are required by state governments to document the 'mother tongue', religion and caste of every student. Our schools never asked for this information till, a few years ago, a letter from the Director of School Education said such information must be collected. I will never forget two Scheduled Caste couples who were furious because, as they said, they had chosen our school for their children since nobody knew each other's caste. Educated parents don't want to give such information, but governments insist on this. Parents who want caste-based concessions can provide the necessary papers. Why should the rest be forced to do so?

We are vitiating society by insisting on defined identities. If we want a modern, developed India, we must discard outdated pinpointing and subsume ourselves in a pan-Indian identity. The rest is a matter of choice.

Avoid civil war situation

The stone-pelting incident between agitating farmers and locals at the Delhi-Haryana Singhu border along with the lathi charge and the use of tear gas by the police are serious matters. The government should intervene so as to avoid a civil war situation in the country.

NA Joseph, Ettumanoor

Don't encourage protests

When the Centre gave every indication of evicting the agitating farmers who are blocking the highway by midnight on Thursday, it is not right for it to not materialise. This sort of attitude will give more encouragement to the movement. It is time to take strong and sustained action before the situation gets murkier.

K V Raghuram, Wayanad

Curbing hatred on TV

The Chief Justice of India made notable comments about television news reports that incite violence. Some news reports and TV debates can be provoking. To maintain law and order, the Centre should find a way to curb hatred on TV. The broadcasting authority should be proactive in regulating such programmes.

Anula Singh, Bengaluru

Unpleasant standoff

There seems to be an unpleasant government-fourth estate standoff following the violence in Delhi on Republic Day. It is true that in a democracy, it is improper for the government to try to clip the media's wings. But the onus is also on the press to report responsibly and foster healing.

Dr George Jacob, Kochi

Courts shouldn't be lenient

The verdicts by the Bombay High Court in the two POCSO cases are insensitive and irrational. As only a small fraction of sexual assault cases even reach the endpoint of legal action, the law of the land should not be lenient towards such offences.

D V G Sankararao, Vizianagaram

Lack of understanding

Yet another bizarre judgment by the Bombay HC has grabbed headlines and shockingly, the same judge is involved in the ruling. She seems to have a narrow sense of interpretation of sexual assault. This is not the fault of a single judge; it shows the lack of understanding and sensitivity among the judiciary on sexual violence.

For the betterment of AP

This is with reference to Need mutual respect, not pride & prejudice (Jan 29). The Supreme Court's dismissal of the Andhra government's plea on the panchayat elections next month is a step in the right direction. The SEC and the government should shed their pride for the betterment of the state and work together to maintain the spirit of our Constitution.

R Pichumani, Kumbakonam

Brush aside differences

The gram panchayat polls call for coordination and coherence from the SEC and the government. They need to work in tandem to conduct the elections smoothly. Their differences need to be brushed aside for the greater good.

NFHS data shocking

This is with reference to India has to intensify nutrition-related action (Jan 29). It is shocking to know that the percentage of those overweight is on the rise. The government must implement a large-scale survey that is representative of our diverse population for a better understanding of the situation.

Growth story back on track

This is with reference to Up to the Budget to validate IMF's positive projections (Jan 29). The growth story of the country seems to be back on track after months of pessimism generated by analysts who failed to foresee our nation's resilience. Our finance minister will present a Budget aimed at consolidating gains.

'Reforms to end APMC regime, enhance lives'

The Economic Survey 2020-2021 said the new farm laws herald a new era of market freedom and go a long way in enhancing the lives of marginal farmers. "These legislations were designed primarily for the benefit of small and marginal farmers, which constitute around 85 per cent of the total number of farmers and are the biggest sufferer of the regressive APMC-regulated market regime," the Economic Survey stated. It further said the new laws were the need of the hour to make agriculture a modern business enterprise instead of just a rural livelihood sector. Several Economic Surveys in the past have expressed concern at functioning of the APMCs.

Prez backs agri laws, flays violence

Says agri reforms brought instant benefits to 10 cr farmers, but govt will abide by SC order

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

MAKING a strong case for the contentious farm laws, President Ram Nath Kovind, in his customary address to Parliament at the start of the Budget Session, said the benefits of the new provisions had started reaching small and marginal farmers instantly.

He, however, added that the government would abide by the Supreme Court order staying the farm laws.

The President also termed unfortunate the "acts of dishonouring the national flag and showing disrespect to the auspicious occasion of the Republic Day". "While the Constitution gives us the right to freedom of expression, it is also expected that we abide by the laws and rules with equal sincerity," he noted.

Kovind reminded that several political parties had advocated similar agrarian reforms. "The benefits of these three important farm reforms have started reaching more than 10 crore small farmers instantly. Appreciating the advantages that these reforms would bring to the small farmers, several political parties too had, from time to time, expressed their support."

Though Kovind touched upon a range of other issues, including Covid-19 and vaccination, Atmanirbhar campaign and tension with China, the focus of his speech was on agricultural reforms through which, he said, the government has empowered the farmers. The rights and facilities available under the system prevailing before the enactment of the three new laws aren't affected by these legislations, he stressed. The President slammed China, without naming it, for trying to disrupt peace at the Line of Actual Control and hailed the security forces for foiling attempts to change the status quo at the border amid an "unprecedented escalation" in tension.

Kovind quoted nationalist poets Ambikagiri Raichaudhuri from Assam, Vallathol from Kerala and Jyotirindranath Tagore from West Bengal to invoke nationalistic fervour.

Farmers' agitation will spread to other parts if not resolved soon, says Rahul

NEW DELHI: Accusing the Centre of trying to intimidate and discredit the farmers using the NIA, former Congress chief Rahul Gandhi on Friday warned that the agitation will spread to other parts of the country if not resolved.

"It is very obvious that the farmers are very agitated because the government is destroying their livelihood. It is destroying the livelihood of our labourers and it is going to give the middle class a shock in the coming times because the prices of food are going to skyrocket," he said.

The Congress leader alleged that the Centre has been assaulting the farmers, threatening them, bullying them and trying to discredit them. Calling for an immediate resolution, he said the government needs to talk to the farmers and provide a solution.

"The government must not think that the farmers are going back home. They are not going home and my concern is that this situation is going to spread. We don't need this situation to spread, we need a conversation with farmers and we need a solution," Gandhi said.

He also urged the farmers not to move an inch and continue fighting for their future. "This movement is going to spread to other states and can't be suppressed," he said. ENS

Congress leader trying to provoke farmers: BJP

NEW DELHI: The BJP on Friday accused Congress leader Rahul Gandhi of giving a call for "violence" after he warned the Centre that if farmers' protest is not defused then the agitation would spread across the country.

Union Minister Smriti Irani said it was unfortunate that Gandhi is provoking the farmers to indulge in protests as seen on January 26 in all parts of the country.

"In place of calling for peace, Gandhi at his press conference has tried to encourage the anarchist and miscreants. He has no words of consolation for the Delhi Police personnel who bore the brunt of the January 26 violence while exercising utmost restraint," Irani said at the BJP headquarters.

Irani said over 400 cops were injured during the January 26 clashes with farmers, with some of them being in critical conditions. "The country cannot forget those moments when attempts were made to crush police personnel and the media persons under the wheels of tractors. There has been not a word of consolation from him for them," she said.

The Union minister said the BJP will not allow the politics of violence to succeed, adding that this was not the first occasion that Gandhi has sought to further his political interests with the "blood of innocents". ENS

This is what Pakistan wants, says Amarinder

CHANDIGARH: Condemning violence by miscreants at the Singhu border, Punjab CM Amarinder Singh urged the Centre to conduct a thorough probe to identify the 'so-called locals' who had attack farmers and their property.

"I can't believe that the local people could have turned against the farmers like this. Miscreants might have been brought from other places by vested interests to foment trouble," he said, adding locals calling the farmers traitors could not be true.

"What is happening and what happened at Singhu today is what Pakistan wants," he said, pointing out that he had been warning for a long time that Pakistan will try to exploit the unrest over the farm laws to disturb Punjab's peace. Central agencies should probe Pakistan's role in the recent violence, he said.

Calling for an immediate end to the vilification campaign against farmers, Amarinder said maligning the farmers could lower the morale of the armed forces personnel. "I could have resolved the issue by now," he said, adding both sides need to "talk as friends, not enemies". ENS

First session of this decade crucial for India's future: PM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

ON the first day of the Budget session of Parliament, Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Friday stressed that the first session of the current decade is crucial for India's bright future.

Modi asked the MPs to debate and discuss all the issues that concern people of the country, and hoped that they will not shy away from contributing to fulfill people's aspirations, by making full use of Parliament and following all the propriety of democracy.

The PM said Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman had to give four-five mini-budgets in the form of packages in 2020 to deal with the situations arising out of the Covid-19 pandemic and expressed confidence that the upcoming budget would also be seen as part of that series.

"This is for the first time in Indian history that the finance minister had to present four to five mini budgets during 2020," said Modi in an apparent reference to the government continuing with the measures taken during the lockdown to boost the economy and reach out to the vulnerable sections as part of the Garib Kalyan Yojana, besides extending the benefit of foodgrains to a large section of the population.

He also hoped that the MPs will fulfill the aspiration of people within the limitations of democracy.

Lok Sabha Speaker Om Birla chaired an all-party meeting during which the leaders of political parties assured him of cooperation in the smooth running of the Lower House.

Birla said he has requested the floor leaders to respect the dignity of the House and the dignity of the customary Presidential address. A large section of the Opposition boycotted the President's address to the joint sitting of the two Houses of the Parliament on Friday.

"Members represent the hopes and aspirations of the people and the floor of the House is the ideal forum to give voice to their concerns," said Birla.

Oppn boycotts Kovind's address; BJP throws arrogance barb on Cong

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

FIRST day of the Parliament's Budget Session saw the opposition protest in front of the Gandhi statue against the farm laws. As many as 20 opposition parties boycotted the presidential address and held protests in the Parliament complex. Left MPs marched near Parliament, demanding justice for farmers. BJP criticised the opposition for boycotting the presidential address, saying it was a 'mattter of regret'.

There was drama inside the House too. Rajasthan's MP Hanuman Beniwal held out a placard and raised the slogan 'repeal all three black laws' during President's address at the start of the Budget Session. Beniwal is the chief of Rashtriya Loktantrik Party, which left the NDA recently in protest against the farm laws.

Also during the President's address, Congress MP Ravneet Singh Bittu raised the slogan 'jai jawan jai kisan'. In the Lok Sabha during obituary references, Congress MP Gurjeet Singh Aujla said the house should pay respect to farmers who died during the agitation. The Speaker did not allow him to speak further.

While Congress' leader in Lok Sabha, Adhir Ranjan Chowdhury, and AAP MP Sanjay Singh also spoke in favour of raising slogans in support of the farmers, BJP slammed the opposition for boycotting Kovind's address. Union Minister Ravi Shankar Prasad said it was a matter of regret. BJP leaders added that when they were in the opposition during the UPA rule, they never resorted to boycotting the President's address despite allegations of corruption and scams.

Prasad said "arrogance" of the Congress is the "real problem" as it believes that it is bound to rule the country despite not having the popular mandate.

Union Minister Prakash Javadekar said that the Congress for the past few years has been pushing a false narrative that the Modi government is against the institutions.

"The hypocrisy of the Congress stands exposed after the boycott," said Javadekar.

Starting next week, vaccination to cover frontline workers too

New Delhi: The Centre on Friday asked state goverments to start vaccination of frontline workers against Covid-19 beginning next week, adding that their immunisation will run parallelly to the ongoing exercise covering healthcare workers. In a letter addressed to state health secretaries, Manohar Agnani, additional secretary in Union health and family welfare ministry, said the database of more than 61 lakh frontline workers in India has been uploaded on Co-WIN portal.

HEALTH SECTOR

ECONOMIC SURVEY FINDS SERVICE POOR IN PVT HOSPITALS

SUMI SUKANYA DUTTA @ New Delhi

DESPITE push from the government for promotion of privatisation in the health sector, the latest Economic Survey has underlined the poor quality of service in private hospitals and suggested setting up agencies to assess the quality of doctors and hospitals.

As per the report tabled in Parliament on Friday, while the share of public institutions has increased both in hospital and outpatient care, the private sector dominates in total healthcare provision in India. Around 74 per cent of outpatient care and 65 per cent of hospitalisation care is provided through the private sector in urban India.

Citing a research study, the report highlights that a large proportion of deaths in India manifests due to poor quality of healthcare than insufficient access. To understand the difference in quality between the public and private sector providers, data from the Centre's flagship Pradhan Mantri Jan Arogya Yojana has also been used. The data show that mortality rate for neonatal procedures is much higher in private hospitals than in public hospitals — 3.84 per cent and 0.61 per cent, respectively. Also, public sector patients get readmitted to the same hospital 64 per cent of the time versus 70 per cent for private hospitals.

"So, a large proportion of deaths in India manifesting due to poor quality of healthcare is likely to reflect that the quality of treatment in the private sector may not be significantly better than that in the public sector in India," says the report.

The report also says the problem of asymmetric information in healthcare is reflected in the substantial variation in costs for treating the same disease between the public and private sector. As argued above, the quality of treatment in the private sector does not seem to be markedly better when compared to the public sector.

Bollywood reference in index of necessities

The survey has drawn references to movies while explaining the Bare Necessities Index. "Bollywood's rhetoric... has zoomed in on the bare necessities in movies such as Roti, Kapda Aur Makaan. Amitabh Bachchan's question in Main Azaad Hoon highlights the importance of the bare necessities to the common man," the survey noted.

Air movements may reach pre-Covid level

The coronavirus has hit the aviation sector badly, but the Economic Survey said air passenger travel and aircraft movements are predicted to reach pre-pandemic situation in early 2021 as a result of swift and decisive interventions and effective measures put in place by the government.

10 dead after taking Covid shots, panel to re-examine

SUMI SUKANYA DUTTA @ New Delhi

A national panel to monitor adverse events following immunisation is set to re-examine the causes of deaths reported from individuals who passed away soon after taking Covid-19 shots, amid concerns that adequate investigations in these fatalities may not have been carried out.

So far, 10 people have died in India — within 1 to 5 days after getting the jabs — and these deaths have been reported from Karnataka, UP, Rajasthan, Andhra Pradesh, Telangana, Haryana and Odisha after over 28 lakh vaccinations across the country so far.

In each of the 10 cases, vaccination as the cause of death has been ruled out by the district AEFI committees, but all these fatalities are listed as serious AEFIs as per the criteria set up by the government. The age group of the healthcare workers who died following the vaccinations was between 25 and 56 years.

N K Arora, an advisor to the national AEFI committee, told this newspaper that in most of the cases, to find out the exact cause of deaths, post-mortems have been done.

"The immediate understanding is none of these deaths is causally related to the administration of the Covid vaccine," he said, adding that the national expert panel will again analyse the causes of deaths using the WHO-recommended algorithm to determine the causation in a scientific and transparent manner.

"The causality assessment findings of the national AEFI committee are to be made public," Arora added. Experts have expressed concerns over lack of transparency in AEFI investigations.

China 'appreciates' EAM Jaishankar's suggestions to repair sore relations

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

CHINA on Friday said it had taken note of External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar's eight-point suggestion to repair the sore ties between the two nations while stating that the border issue should not be linked to the bilateral relationship.

"We have noted Minister Jaishankar's remarks. He stressed the importance of India-China relations. It shows that the Indian side attaches importance to the ties with China, we appreciate this," Chinese Ministry of Foreign Affairs spokesperson Zhao Lijian said.

The spokesperson hoped that India would work with Beijing to properly manage differences and promote practical cooperation to bring India-China ties back on track.

"We stress that the boundary issue shall not be linked with the overall bilateral relations. That is an important experience we have gathered through many years' effort to keep the ties moving forward," Zhao said.

Jaishankar, in his keynote address at an event, had outlined an eight-point suggestion to take India-China relations forward.

He also stressed on three mutuals — interest, sensitivity and respect — needed to mend the ties between the two neighbouring countries.

The EAM had also come down heavily on China, saying the relations had been profoundly disturbed due to the events that took place last year.

He was referring to the violent face-off between Indian and Chinese troops on June 15 last year at the Galwan Valley along the Line of Actual Control (LAC) that led to the death of 20 Indian soldiers.

India and China have held several rounds of military and diplomatic talks to resolve the face-off in eastern Ladakh, but no significant headway has been made so far.

Jaishankar outlined eight broad principles

Jaishankar outlined eight broad principles and three "mutuals" to mend strained ties between India and China, and said the two countries are at crossroads and their choices will have profound repercussions, not just for them but for the entire world. Issues related to the border figured in Jaishankar's eight point principles to develop bilateral ties.

Bengal BJP trying to rope in Yogi or Rajnath as Shah calls off visit

Much publicised Howrah event to welcome TMC turncoats to held as scheduled

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi/Kolkata

THOUGH Union home minister Amit Shah cancelled his trip to West Bengal at the eleventh hour, the BJP's Howrah rally on Sunday, where Trinamool Congress functionaries, including two MPs, four MLAs and a former minister, are expected to join the party, will take place as scheduled, BJP's state president Dilip Ghosh confirmed on Friday.

"Since the Union home minister's visit has been cancelled, a senior leader from the party's leadership will be present in the rally in Howrah to welcome the defectors from the TMC," said Ghosh.

Sources in the Bengal BJP said they are trying to bring any of the other big leaders like JP Nadda, Rajnath Singh or Yogi Adityanath to the event where the TMC's functionaries are scheduled to join the saffron camp.

Shah was set to address two rallies in West Bengal on Saturday and Sunday, and attend several programmes as the BJP steps up its campaign in the poll-bound state where assembly elections are expected to be held in April-May.

Shah's Bengal visit was much awaited event aiming to the Matua vote-share ahead of the upcoming 2021 Assembly elections.

As the electorates of the religious sect wanted Shah to announce a deadline of giving them citizenship by implementing CAA, the promise that the BJP had made in 2019 general elections and secured electoral dividend riding on it.

During Shah's visit last month, six TMC MLAs and an MP had joined BJP along with 45 district-level functionaries.

Meanwhile, the TMC was on Friday rocked by a fresh bout of desertions as former minister Rajib Banerjee quit the party and several other leaders rallied behind him, deepening the crisis in the party.

After quitting the Mamata Banerjee cabinet, Rajib Banerjee on Friday resigned from the party and as MLA of the West Bengal Assembly. A slew of disgruntled TMC leaders, including some MLAs such as Prabir Ghosal and Baishali Dalmiya, who was recently expelled from the party and former Howrah Mayor Rathin Chakraborty, spoke out against the TMC leadership. Incidentally, Shah was scheduled to address a rally in Rajib Banerjee's home district Howrah on January 31.

Mamata's poll strategy to brand saffron camp as party of 'outsiders'

PRANAB MONDAL @ Kolkata

DRAWING the battle lines for upcoming Assembly elections, TMC supremo and West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee directed party functionaries to adopt a twin strategy to counter BJP — showcase the government's development schemes and portray the saffron camp as a party of outsiders who are against the sentiments of Bengalis.

In a meeting with TMC core committee members, MPs and MLAs on Friday, Mamata reportedly said: "We will highlight our developmental work, schemes for the people of Bengal and the volume of beneficiaries. This campaign has to be carried out in the grassroots. And, we shall not miss the opportunity to label BJP as a party of outsiders whose acts hurt the sentiments of the Bengali-speaking people." Mamata has consistently described the visit of BJP heavyweights Amit Shah and JP Nadda as "tours of outsiders".

On the issue of rebellious party functionaries and their public expressions of dissent, Mamata took a stern stand, asking the party to take disciplinary action.

"She took the hard line after her discussions with once trusted lieutenant Suvendu Adhikari and former forest minister Rajib Banerjee proved futile. Suvendu joined BJP and has been hitting out at the CM since. Rajib Banerjee is all set to join the saffron camp. The chief minister is trying to say that the party's door is shut for the defectors," said a Trinamool Congress leader.

Amid farmer agitation, CBI raids FCI godowns in Punjab, Haryana

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

SLEUTHS from the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) on Friday carried out raids at several godowns of the Food Corporation of India (FCI) in Punjab and Haryana.

"In light of the receipt of a large number of complaints of irregularities in FCI godowns, the CBI is conducting joint surprise checks at about 20 locations in Punjab and Haryana, as part of preventive vigilance," the CBI said in a statement.

The agency is carrying out the operation at the FCI godowns in Dhuri, Rampura, Ferozepur, Budhlada and Tapa, besides the Central Warehousing Corporation godown at Sri Muktsar Sahib.

"CBI teams are checking the quality and quantity of Central pool food grain stocks stored in these godowns. Samples of Central pool stocks of wheat and rice pertaining to the crop year 2019-20 and 2020-21 stored in these godowns have been drawn," the statement added.

According to sources, the raids are part of vigilance checks that the agency conducts periodically. Sources said the raids began late on Thursday night. Around 20 teams of CBI conducted the raid in collaboration with paramilitary personnel, they said. "Samples of wheat and rice were also seized," sources added.

The searches are in accordance with Union Minister Piyush Goyal's statement that the "FCI would be freed from discretionary powers while its work would be made more transparent. Focus on quality production will define FCI and make the facilities even more convenient for the farmers," he had said.

Journalists' bodies slam tough action

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

JOURNALISTS' bodies have condemned the FIRs registered by Uttar Pradesh and Madhya Pradesh Police against journalists and senior editors for reporting on farmers' protest and the ensuing violence in Delhi on Republic Day.

The FIRs should be immediately withdrawn and the media be allowed to function without fear, they said.

The Indian Women's Press Corps (IWPC) and the Editors Guild of India (EGI) expressed concerns over the 'high-handedness' of the police against the press. The targeting of journalists violates on which the democracy stands, the guild said. It will also hurt the media and prevent it from working as an independent watchdog of the country, it reiterated. The journalists were booked under as many as 10 different provisions.

Three militants killed in first J&K encounter of 2021

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

THREE militants of Hizbul Mujahideen were killed in encounter with security forces in Tral area in south Kashmir's Pulwama district in Jammu and Kashmir on Friday. It was the first encounter of the year.

Inspector General of Police (IGP) Kashmir Vijay Kumar said police received information about presence of militants at Mandoora of Tral on Thursday. A contingent of police, CRPF and army laid siege around the village on Friday.

By afternoon, the security forces launched a search operation in the village and came to know that three militants were hiding in a residential house.

According to the IGP, the militants present inside the house as per SOP were repeatedly asked to surrender and lay down weapons.

"However, militants instead of surrendering lobbed grenades and fired on the troops".

The fire was returned by the troops, triggering an encounter. In the ensuing firefight, IGP said, three Hizb militants were killed. The deceased militants were identified as Arif Bashir, Waris Hassan and Syed Asif-ul-Haq. "An AK-47 rifle, two pistols and four grenades were recovered from the encounter site". Arif and Asif had joined militancy on January 1 this year while Waris had joined Hizb in August last year.

According to IGP, Arif was involved in January 2 grenade attack on SSB at Tral in Pulwama in which nine people were injured.

UN chief calls on India to play a major role in global vaccination campaign

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

UNITED Nations (UN) Secretary General Antonio Guterres on Friday said India's vaccine manufacturing capacity is one of the best assets the world has and lauded the country for supplying Covid-19 vaccines to other countries.

"I would like to say how much we count on India. I mean, India has one of the most advanced pharmaceutical industries. India played a very important role in the production of generics for use that was a very important element of democratisation of access to medicines all over the world," the Guterres said.

He also hoped that India will have the resources needed to play a significant role in ensuring that a global vaccination campaign is possible. "We strongly hope that India will have all the instruments that are necessary to play a major role in making sure that a global vaccination campaign becomes possible. I think that the production capacity of India is one of the best assets the world has today, and I hope the world understands that it must be fully used," he said.

On India-Pak tensions, Guterres said military confrontation between Pakistan and India would lead to a disaster of unmitigated proportions. "I think it's absolutely essential for the two countries to be able to come together and discuss problems"

A preliminary inquiry by the Delhi Police into the IED blast near the Israel Embassy revealed that the improvised explosive device (IED) was planted in a flower pot kept on the median.

Ball bearing, broken pieces of cans, a letter with an envelope reading 'to Israel Embassy Ambassador' has been found by the forensic team from spot where a low intensity explosive occured.

Delhi Police Special will register an FIR on the blast. The multiple agencies special cell, Intellegence agency and district police is investigating the incident in detail, said a senior ranking official.

Union Home Minister Amit Shah was briefed about the blast while he was attending the Beating Retreat ceremony, officials said, adding that India was taking the explosion 'very seriously'. Shah spoke to the Delhi Police Commissioner and officials of the Intelligence Bureau and sought details.

Meanwhile, External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar dialed up his Israeli counterpart Gabi Ashkenazi assuring him no effort will be spared to find the culprit. "Assured him of the fullest protection for the Embassy. Matter is under investigation and no effort will be spared to find the culprits," he tweeted.

There were reports about officials in Israel calling Friday's explosion a 'terrorist incident'.

CONTEMPT CASE

There's no defence for jokes, Kamra tells Supreme Court

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

STAND-UP comedian Kunal Kamra on Friday told the Supreme Court that his tweets on judiciary were based on a comedian's perception and that jokes are not reality and do not claim to be so.

"There's no defence for jokes. These jokes are not reality and don't claim to be so. Most people do not reach to jokes that don't make them laugh, they ignore them like our political leaders ignore their critics," Kamra's affidavit stated in a response filed to a contempt notice issued to him by the top court.

The response by Kamra came after a contempt notice was issued to him on a batch of petitions against his tweets attacking the top court for granting bail to Republic TV Editor-in-Chief Arnab Goswami after his arrest in an abetment to suicide case. The bench headed by Justice Ashok Bhushan adjourned the case by two weeks for the petitioners to file their response to Kamra's affidavit.

"Irreverence and hyperbole are essential tools for the comedic enterprise. Comedy does not permit an artist the luxury of articulating the basis of jokes through long, nuanced essays or measured prose. Brevity may not be a familiar concept for the legal community, but it continues to be the soul of comedy, including on Twitter," Kamra stated.

Kamra in his affidavit stated that, "He believes that constitutional offices, including judicial offices, know no protection from jokes, and should powerful people and institutions show an inability to tolerate rebuke or criticism, we would be reduced to a country of incarcerated artists and flourishing lapdogs". He cited comedian Munawar Faruqui's case to highlight the "growing culture of intolerance".

Blood donation camps to raise safety awareness

As most deaths in road accidents occur due to excess bleeding, a record number of 103 persons donated their blood to create road safety awareness at a day-long special voluntary blood donation camp in Patna. It was organised by the AIIMS in collaboration with the state transport department. Blood donors appealed to follow road safety rules by donating blood in presence of a galaxy of doctors including Prabhat Kumar Singh, Dr Neha Singh, Dr Veena and Dr Sanjeev Kumar. Transport Secretary Sanjay Kumar. Transport Secretary Sanjay Kumar Aggarwal said about 600 people have donated blood during the month- long drive.

Digital land records to be a click away

In a state like Bihar, where land disputes dominate the crime scène, the state government is working to put even 100-year-old land records available at just with a click. A new system is being implemented for the search of land documents at the government level at war-footing. For this, 163 zones of the state have been selected in the first phase and the land documents are being digitizing and scanned for keeping them in digital preservation. Once implemented, the Document Management System and the Record management System will allow public to track their records online

Digital literacy in education policy discussed

A galaxy of academicians and teachers from across the country converged in Patna, recently to dwell upon the role of digital literacy in the new education policy at the 7th National Council meet of the Private Schools and Children's Welfare Association here. They all advocated for digital literacy to be made an integral part in the new education policy, keeping the future of education in mind. It was inaugurated jointly by Minister Santosh Kumar Suman, ADG (SCRB) of Police Dr Kamal Kishore Singh among others

China to stop recognising UK papers for Hong Kongers

BEIJING

CHINA said on Friday it will no longer recognize the British National Overseas passport as a valid travel document or form of identification amid a bitter feud with London over a plan to allow millions of Hong Kong residents a route to residency and eventual citizenship.

The announcement by Foreign Ministry spokesperson Zhao Lijian on Friday throws up new uncertainty around the plan just hours after the U.K. said it would begin taking applications for what are called BNO visas beginning late Sunday.

Under the plan, as many as 5.4 million Hong Kong residents could be eligible to live and work in the U.K. for five years then apply for citizenship. Demand soared after Beijing last year imposed a sweeping new national security law on the former British colony following months of pro-democracy protests.

"The British side's attempt to turn a large number of Hong Kong people into second-class British citizens has completely changed the nature of the two sides' original understanding of BNO," Zhao told reporters. AP

UN alarmed as Suu Kyi-military rift widens amid coup fears in Myanmar

Country's election commission rejects allegations by military of fraud in November elections

NAYPYITAW

MYANMAR'S election commission rejected allegations by the military that fraud played a significant role in determining the outcome of November's elections, which delivered a landslide victory to Aung San Suu Kyi's ruling party.

The decision, announced Thursday, came amid heightened tensions after the military, which had ruled Myanmar for five decades until 2015, refused to rule out the possibility of a coup if their complaints were ignored.

More than a dozen embassies, including the US and EU, urged Myanmar to "adhere to democratic norms" on Friday, joining the UN in a chorus of international concern about a possible coup.

Aung San Suu Kyi's National League for Democracy party captured 396 out of 476 seats in the Nov. 8 polls, allowing them to form the government for another five years. The military-backed Union Solidarity and Development Party won only 33 seats. The military has been calling on the government and the Union Election Commission to review the results. It says it has found 8.6 million irregularities in voter lists in 314 townships that could have let voters cast multiple ballots or commit other "voting malpractice," but the election commission said there was no evidence to support these claims.

On Tuesday, a military spokesperson declined to rule out a coup, saying the military would continue to file complaints about alleged irregularities in line with laws and the constitution.

Security in the capital Naypyidaw was tight on Friday with police guarding roads behind barbed wire barricades, ahead of Monday's opening of parliament | AP

Myanmar's military chief Min Aung Hlaing on Wednesday told senior officers in a speech that the constitution could be revoked if laws are not properly enforced.

"The constitution is the mother law for all laws. So we all need to abide by the constitution. If one does not follow the law, such law must be revoked. If it is the constitution, it is necessary to revoke the constitution," he said.

Overturning poll results

The party of Suu Kyi, the Nobel Peace prize laureate, won the previous polls in 2015 also in a landslide. But her ability to govern has been hamstrung by a clause in the 2008 army-drafted constitution giving the military 25% of the seats in parliament that allows it to block constitutional reforms.

Khin Zaw Win, a political analyst in Yangon and former political prisoner, suggested the military was signaling its intention to intervene in the country's politics. Agencies

Suu Kyi, chief of military not on talking terms?

Tensions have been growing among the military ever since Aung San Suu Kyi became the de facto leader of the country in 2019

2019

Suu Kyi tired to amend the constiution, seeking to undermine the military's ability to appoint its own parliamentarians. Then came the November 2020 elections, which Suu Kyi's pary NLD won

NO DIALOGUE

Nikkei Asia quoted an unnamed person saying "there is almost no direct communication between (them) Suu Kyi and Min Aung Hlaing."

Bitter feud between FB, Apple worsens

WASHINGTON

A feud between tech giants heated up Thursday as Apple's chief executive implied Facebook's business model promotes disinformation and violence, while the social network reportedly prepares an anti-trust lawsuit against Apple.

The suit accuses Apple of abusing control of its App Store by requiring outside app developers, such as Facebook, to abide by rules not applied to its own apps, tech publication The Information reported.

"As we have said repeatedly, we believe Apple is behaving anti-competitively by using their control of the App Store to benefit their bottom line at the expense of app developers and small businesses," Facebook told AFP, declining to confirm or deny the report.

Chief Executive Tim Cook seemed to take aim at Facebook when he blasted "disinformation and conspiracy theories juiced by algorithms" during a virtual data privacy conference in Brussels on Thursday.

Cook did not mention Facebook by name, but skewered business models built on targeted advertising, which accounts for most of the social giant's revenue. "If a business is built on misleading users, on data exploitation, on choices that are no choices at all, it does not deserve our praise," Cook was quoted as saying. AFP

April-December fiscal deficit touches 145% of full-year target

Lower revenue realisation due to disruption in normal business activities following the pandemic and protracted lockdowns widens shortfall to `11.6 lakh crore

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

INDIA's fiscal deficit (gap between expenditure and revenue) during April-December 2020 stood at ₹11.58 lakh crore, exceeding the Budget target by 145.5%, data released by the Controller General of Accounts showed on Friday. "The Government of India has received ₹11,21,678 crore (50% of corresponding BE2020-21 of Total Receipts) up to December, 2020 comprising ₹9,62,399 crore Tax Revenue (Net to Centre), ₹1,26,181 crore of Non Tax Revenue and ₹33,098 crore of Non Debt Capital Receipts," the finance ministry said.

Of the total Non Debt Capital Receipts, recovery of Loans was ₹14,202 crore, Disinvestment proceeds stood at ₹18,896 crore. According to the data, total expenditure was ₹22.8 lakh crore, which was 75% of corresponding BE 2020-21, out of which ₹19,71,173 crore is on Revenue Account and ₹3,08,974 crore is on Capital Account.

"Out of the Total Revenue Expenditure, ₹4,72,171 crore is on account of Interest Payments and ₹2,27,352 crore is on account of major subsidies," the statement revealed.

For the period under review, ₹3,71,640 crore has been transferred to state governments as devolution of share of taxes by the Centre up to December 2020. For the current financial year (FY21), the government had pegged the fiscal deficit at ₹7.96 lakh crore or 3.5% of the GDP in the Budget.

However, on account of Covid-19, and increasing government expenditure, fiscal deficit is projected to overshoot the initial estimates, 3.5% of GDP. Various analysts and rating agencies have forecasted fiscal deficit between 6.5-8%.

Even ahead of Covid, fiscal deficit had soared to a seven-year high of 4.6% of the GDP in 2019-20, mainly due to poor tax collection.

Going by the prescription by the Economic Survey, which calls for a more active, counter-cyclical fiscal policy, the Centre is likely to follow a glide path which will bring down the Budget deficit to 4% of GDP by 2025-26.

A counter-cyclical policy is when a government spends more or provides tax relief during a slowdown.

ECONOMIC SURVEY

Survey moots change in weightage of food items to gauge true inflation

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Chennai

THE Economic Survey has suggested focusing on core inflation to get a clear picture of the inflation in the country. The Survey highlights that sole focus on combined CPI inflation may not be appropriate. The current spike in consumer price-based retail inflation of food prices is mainly a supply-side phenomenon, it noted.

According to the Survey, while food habits have undergone revisions since 2011-12, which is the CPI base year, the same is not reflected in the index yet. The base year of CPI, therefore, needs to be revised to overcome the measurement error that may be arising from the change in food habits. "For all these reasons, a greater focus on core inflation is warranted," it says.

The Survey further states that given the significant increase in e-commerce transactions, new sources of price data capturing e-commerce transactions must get incorporated in the construction of price indices.

The Economic Survey 2020-21 has suggested revision in the weightage of food items. "There is a need to capture the revised weight of food items in the index to correctly depict the true picture of inflation in the country".

The Survey says that going forward, as food inflation eases further, overall inflation is expected to moderate. It says that easing of supply side restrictions, which saw inflation moderate in December 2020, are expected to continue this easing.

During 2020-21, retail and wholesale inflation saw movements in the opposite directions. While headline retail inflation saw an increase compared to the previous year, WPI inflation remained benign.

Supply-side shocks especially owing to COVID-19 pandemic affected the retail inflation with food articles contributing to the overall rise in inflation, said the Survey.

Thali costs have increased between June 2020 and November 2020, they witnessed a sharp fall in the month of December reflecting the fall in the prices of many essential food commodities, as per the Survey.

'Sovereign credit ratings don't reflect reality'

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

LASHING out at the global credit agencies, the Economic Survey for 2020-21 has charged them with prejudice against emerging economies such as India. The Survey, which was tabled in Parliament on Friday, highlighted how rating agencies have rated India much below expectation on several parameters including GDP growth, general government debt and inflation over a period of two decades, which does not truly reflect India's fundamentals. Global ratings agencies S&P, Moody's and Fitch have placed the lowest investment grade rating on India, which is just above junk.

"Never in the history of sovereign credit ratings has the fifth largest economy in the world been rated as the lowest rung of the investment-grade (BBB-/Baa3). While sovereign credit ratings do not reflect the Indian economy's fundamentals, noisy, opaque and biased credit ratings damage FPI flows," the Survey said, calling for an overhaul of rating methodology to reflect economies' ability and willingness to pay their external obligations.

The Survey went on to add that India's ability to pay can be gauged not only by extremely low foreign currency-denominated debt of the sovereign but also by the comfortable size of its foreign exchange reserves that can pay for the short-term debt of the private sector as well as the entire stock of external debt, including that of the private sector.

In June, Fitch Ratings revised India outlook stating the pandemic has weakened the country's growth prospects and exposed challenges associated with a public-debt burden.

Moody's had downgraded India's sovereign rating to 'Baa3' from 'Baa2', saying there will be challenges in the implementation of policies to mitigate risks of a sustained period of low growth and deteriorating fiscal position. S&P Global Ratings retained the 'BBB-' rating for India for the 13th year in a row in June last year.

India rating: From speculative to -ve

- During 1990s and mid 2000s, India's sovereign credit rating was speculative grade
- Rating was upgraded to investment grade by Moody's in 2004, Fitch in 2006 and S&P in 2007
- In June 2020, Fitch revised India outlook to 'negative' and affirmed rating at BBB-

India likely to see current account surplus in FY21

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

INDIA may witness current account surplus of 2% in FY21 after a gap of 17 years, according to The Economic Survey 2020-21 released on Friday.

This feat will be achieved on the back of the country's resilient software service export and plunge in global crude prices, primarily in the first quarter FY21, due to Covid-19 caused disruption.

Current account surplus refers to positive current account balance (difference between exports and imports of goods and services).

According to data available, India's import of crude came down to $31.2 billion during April-November this fiscal from $68 billion same period last fiscal. Net services receipts amounting to $41.7 billion remained stable in April-September 2020 compared to $40.5 billion in corresponding period a year ago. Software services accounted for 49% of total services exports.

India's current account deficit averaged 2.2% of GDP in the past 10 years.

Reversing this trend, current account balance turned into surplus (0.1% of GDP) in Q4FY20 on the back of a lower trade deficit and a sharp rise in net invisible receipts. This quarterly surplus was registered after a gap of 13 years after Q4FY07. This has been followed by successive current account surpluses in Q1 and Q2 of FY21.

In H1FY21, steep contraction in merchandise imports and lower outgo for travel services led to a sharper fall in current payments (by 30.8 per cent) than current receipts (15.1 per cent) – leading to a current account surplus of US$ 34.7 billion (3.1 per cent of GDP).

Survey mum on job losses, pvt investment

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE Economic Survey was high on optimism about a V-shape recovery but it left out some of the problem areas including employment.

The Survey did speak about some labour reforms and interesting trends like flexi-staffing, but the approach remained superficial and it did not talk about lack of employment creation and did not give any roadmap to do so in a year when the country witnessed significant loss of employment on account of the ongoing pandemic.

"The lockdown period also saw the growth of the gig economy and increasing work from home in the organised sector," the Survey said.

According to CMIE, 121 million people lost jobs during the months of lockdown. The Survey left this area untouched.

Another important area the Economic Survey did not touch upon was taxations and falling revenue collection.

Curiously, the Survey was also silent about the much-needed private-sector investment, which has remained stagnant for the past 3-4 years.

FOCUS ON GROWTH, DON'T WORRY ABOUT FISCAL DEFICIT: CEA

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

AS India's debt-to-GDP ratio is set to reach highest in the past two decades, the Economic Survey has suggested that the government give priority to economic growth, and not worry about fiscal deficit because without growth, India will find it difficult to service its debt obligation.

Growth leads to debt sustainability in the Indian context but not necessarily vice-versa

K Subramanian, CEA

"The Survey endeavours to provide the intellectual anchor for the government to be more relaxed about debt and fiscal spending during a growth slowdown or an economic crisis," Chief Economic advisor K Subramanian said in the latest economic survey 2019-20, tabled in Parliament on Friday, calling for more active, counter-cyclical fiscal policy.

Dismissing concerns raised by the experts, economists and rating agencies, the survey said higher growth in economy in the past two-and-a-half decades has resulted in lower debt-to-GDP in India because of an increase in the denominator GDP.

"Interest rate on debt paid by the Indian government has been less than India's growth rate by norm, not by exception," the Survey noted.

The Survey says simulations undertaken till 2030 highlight that given India's growth potential, debt sustainability is unlikely to be a problem even in the worst-case scenarios.

The observation comes at a time when the public debt to GDP ratio, which was 66-68%, is expected to jump to 80% plus in 2020-21, which will be the highest in the past two decades.

Services sector likely to contract by 8.8% in FY21 despite record 34% jump in FDI inflows: Survey

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

INDIA's services sector, which accounts for 54 % of the country's economy, is estimated to contract 8.8% in FY21 as sub-sectors such as tourism, aviation and hospitality were marred by the Covid pandemic and subsequent lockdowns, the Economic Survey 2021 said.

The contact-intensive services sector contracted by almost 16% in HIFY21 with a huge impact on air passenger traffic, rail freight traffic, port traffic, foreign tourist arrivals, and foreign exchange earnings following the first lockdown announced in March 2020.

However, the foreign direct investment inflow into the sector has seen a 34% year-on-year jump during April-September 2020 to reach $23.61 billion led by the country's IT/ ITeS sector, which received $17.55 billion foreign investments, a 336% annual increase, despite the pandemic.

Overall, the services industry contracted for five months since the onset of the coronavirus pandemic in March as demand slipped.

The recovery signs, according to the Survey, are gradually apparent in various service sub-sectors with 'measured opening-up of economy since June 2020' even as the travel continues to remain muted.

Services purchasing managers index, rail freight traffic, and port traffic have bottomed out and are rising steadily now, showing a V-shaped recovery, the Economic Survey 2020-21 added.

In terms of services sector exports, IT/ITeS showed remarkable resilience, with a majority of the software firms showing signs of rebound from the second quarter of FY21, on account of the increased revenue from their financial, banking and insurance, retail, life sciences and health care units, the Survey noted.

It added the relaxation in regulations such as Other Services Providers (OPS) norms as well as introduction of Consumer Protection Act2020 helped the industry's growth.

Payments for all major services imports decreased. Among the major sectors, payments for overseas travel fell by 55.09% due to restrictions on outbound travel from India

Fresh asset quality review post Covid

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

IN a bid to get a clearer picture of the banking system asset quality, the Economic Survey has called for a fresh review of asset quality of banks after the Covid-19-related regulatory forbearances are removed. Criticising the Asset Quality Review (AQR) of 2015-16 that the Reserve Bank of India had undertaken under Governor Raghuram Rajan, the Survey said it under-estimated the extent of bad loans and the resultant capital infusion that was required to ensure that the bank balance sheets indeed become healthy, exacerbating problems in the sector created by forbearance post global financial crisis.

"Given the problem of asymmetric information between the regulator and the banks, which gets accentuated during the forbearance regime, an AQR exercise must be conducted after the forbearance is withdrawn," the Survey said.

The exercise, if it happens, will have huge implications in the banking system. A bad loan clean-up will mean banks will see a sharp spike in bad loans from the current level. As of September last year, 7.5% of the loans are tagged as gross non-performing assets and the GNPA ratio is expected to rise to 13.5% in September this year.

GDP growth rate for FY20 revised to 4%

New Delhi: The government on Friday revised downwards the economic growth rate for 2019-20 to 4% from 4.2% estimated earlier. "Real GDP or GDP at constant (2011-12) prices for the years 2019-20 and 2018-19 stands at ₹145.69 lakh crore and ₹140.03 lakh crore, respectively, showing growth of 4% during 2019-20 and 6.5% during 2018-19," National Statistical Office said in revised national account data released on Friday

Core infrastructure output contracts 1.3% in Dec

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

INDIA's core infrastructure sector contracted by 1.3% in December 2020, continuing its momentum of slide since lockdown, which they fear can drag down India's recovery.

The only time the sector saw some revival was in September, mainly on account of festival boost, when it grew by 0.6% as the revised data suggested, released by the Commerce and Industry Ministry on Friday.

However, the festive revival was not sustained and as warned by the economists, the core industry saw a 2.5 per cent contraction in October, followed by 2.6% in November.

The numbers remain crucial benchmark for the growth of the economy as the eight core industries constitute 40.27% of the Index of Industrial Production.

"Based on the plateau in the core sector data, juxtaposed with the uptick in auto production trends and recovery in non-oil merchandise exports, we expected the IIP to rebound to a modest growth of 0.5-1.5 per cent in December 2020, trailing the level seen in October 2020," Aditi Nayar, Principal Economist ICRA said.

According to the data released by the commerce ministry, the decline was mainly due to decline in production of natural gas, refinery products, steel and cement.

Barring coal and electricity, almost all sectors recorded negative growth in December 2020.

The output of crude oil, natural gas, refinery products, fertiliser, steel and cement declined by 3.6%, 7.2%, 2.8%, 2.9%, 2.7%, and 9.7 %, respectively.

NEW DAWN: ON YOUR MARKS, GETTING SET

Chepauk gets ready to host back-to-back Tests as international cricket returns to India. Venkata Krishna B finds out the arrangements TNCA are making just days head of the first match starting on Feb 5

APART from the frequent temperature checks and a few masked officials, few things stand out at the MA Chidambaram Stadium. The usual buzz one associates in the lead up to an international fixture is missing. The MJ Gopalan Gate, usually kept open, remain closed. Apart from a few electricians running checks in the scorers' room, it's bereft of humanity. On the field, the square is as green as the outfield. Even if the grass on the surface will be trimmed before the match, this looks more Manchester than Chennai.

Inside the Tamil Nadu Cricket Association (TNCA) office, there is no sign of chaos. There are no meetings and people aren't lining up for their pass. The only ones who you can spot are the office staff, in their traditional light blue shirt and navy-blue trousers. They are talking about how the seats on the boxes above the pavilion terrace should be kept, considering social distancing protocols. It's the only place which will be open — only for TNCA office-bearers and staff — in case they want to watch the Tests. But as TNCA secretary RS Ramasaamy puts it, while pointing to the TV set in his office: "for all you know, we too will be watching it on television like the rest of the world."

Despite the Centre allowing stadia to operate with 50 per cent crowds, the first two Tests will take place behind closed doors. There is disappointment in Ramasaamy's voice as TNCA was hoping it could welcome back crowds for the Test series. They could have become the first stadium in India to have fans for an international meet amid the pandemic.

As early as January first week when the TN government allowed cinema halls to function with 50% capacity, TNCA knew it would get clearance if it approached the local authorities. Instead, the BCCI decided to play it safe, telling the TNCA that England were not keen on playing in front of fans. "Playing behind closed doors is the most disappointing aspect of staging this Test match," Ramasaamy said. "We have everything in place and since the Tests will be played under a bio-secure bubble, we are giving more attention to safety measures, but ultimately the mood is very sombre because what is a stadium without crowds? It is what creates atmosphere," he added. In that sense, Ramasaammy, joint-secretary KA Shankar, and assistant secretary, N Venkataraman, who are overseeing the preparations, are in a relaxed mood in complete contrast to how their predecessors normally were ahead of an international fixture.

This is the first international match at Chepauk since the office-bearers led by president Rupa Gurunath took charge of TNCA. Under normal circumstances, this would have been similar to arranging a big-fat Indian wedding.

TNCA have hardly put a foot wrong when it comes to organising matches. When the BCCI announced in December that Chennai would host two Test matches, it not only showed TNCA's relevance, but also faith that it can host these matches without hassle.

During international matches, it takes help from nearly 200 volunteers who make up their various committees like hospitality, gate entry, parking, security, transportation, groudsmen, media etc. This time there hasn't been a need to have so many. "We have only around 20 volunteers this time," said Shankar, who was venue incharge during the 2011 World Cup. "Even if we are not here, the staff can put up a show. Everyone has experience of organising a match, so nobody needs to be told what has to be done," he added.

From Saturday, every individual who enters the stadium will be subjected to a Covid-19 test every three days. An Apollo hospital kiosk will be placed near the MJ Gopalan Gate with doctors available at all times. Since the staff and office-bearers are not part of the bio-bubble, they will not have access to the outfield and the dressing room.

Arun Karthik stars as TN march into SMA T20 final

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Chennai

DESPITE some sloppy fielding and stutter at the top, KB Arun Karthik's unbeaten 89 off 54 at took Tamil Nadu to their second successive Syed Mushtaq Ali T20 final on Friday. TN will face Baroda in the final on Sunday. Baroda beat Punjab by 25 runs.

In the semifinal at the Sardar Patel Stadium in Ahmedabad, Rajasthan put up a tough fight against a TN outfit without several stars, but failed to capitalise the crunch situations.

Although the scorecard might look one-sided, it was anything but. At one stage, Rajasthan, after deciding to bat first, looked set for a huge target, but managed only 154/9. Despite losing Bharat Sharma in the first over to Sai Kishore, they recovered well. Captain Ashok Menaria led from the front, as he took the attack to the opposition. Opener Aditya Garhwal played a steady role before Menaria was joined by Arjit Gupta. The duo upped the ante as they scored over eight an over.

Pacer Aswin Crist had a game to forget. Apart from conceding three boundaries on the trot, he dropped two straight-forward catches in the outfield as TN's shoulders began to droop. However, the return of Kishore in the 12th over changed the momentum. The left-arm spinner removed Menaria in the 14th over and from there on Rajasthan kept losing wickets at regular intervals in search of big hits. Once TN found the opening, they tightened the screws as they conceded only one boundary in the last six overs to choke Rajasthan. Though the target was very much in TN's reach, the dismissal of C Hari Nishanth and Baba Aparajith inside the first four overs brought Rajasthan back into the game, but Arun Karthik completed the job for TN.

Brief scores: Rajasthan 154/9 in 20 ovs (Menaria 51, Gupta 45, Mohammed 4-24) lost to Tamil Nadu 158/3 in 18.4 ovs (Arun Karthik 89 n.o); Baroda 160/3 in 20 ovs (Devdhar 64, Kakade 53) bt Punjab 135/8 in 20 ovs (Mandeep 42 n.o, Meriwala 3/28).

CAMP FOR PADDLERS FROM FEB 2

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @Chennai

SOME of India's elite table tennis players will assemble in Sonepat for a national camp early next month. The camp, including the likes of A Sharath Kamal, will be the second national camp to be organised by the Table Tennis federation of India (TTFI) amid the coronavirus pandemic. The first one, which ran for over 40 days, finished in December.

However, this camp too, will be without the likes of G Sathiyan and Harmeet Desai. Among the women paddlers, Manika Batra is not expected to be present but the others have made themselves available.

UPCOMING CALENDAR FOR INDIA'S PADDLERS

Feb 2-13: National camp

Feb 15-23: Nationals

Feb 28- March 6: 1st WTT event

March 6-13: 2nd WTT event

March 14-17: World Singles Olympic qualifiers

March 18-20: Asian Olympic qualifiers

"The dates of the camp are from (February) 2-13," Sharath told this daily. "But I doubt it will be begin from the 2nd because 1st only they will get the approval. 2-13 is the official dates of the camp."

The camp will be followed by the national championships, to be held in Panchkula. "They start of with the women (15-19 Feb) followed by the men (Feb 20-23)." The 38-year-old is looking forward to returning to competition after nearly 10 months. "Getting back to competitive action is such a relief," he said. After they finish, all of them will fly off to Doha for four events, including the Olympic qualifiers.

Sindhu ends with win, Srikanth suffers loss

BANGKOK: Already out of contention for the knockouts, world champion PV Sindhu ended her campaign with a consolation win at the BWF World Tour Finals but Kidambi Srikanth had a disappointing finish after yet another close defeat, here on Friday. Sindhu notched up a 21-18, 21-15 win over World No 13 Pornpawee Chochuwong. Srikanth lost 21-12, 18-21, 19-21 against Hong Kong's NG Ka Long Angus.

Chennai City FC beat Indian Arrows 1-0

KALYANI: Former champions Chennai City FC returned to winning ways with a 1-0 victory over Indian Arrows in an I-League match here on Friday. Elvedin Skrijelj's 63rd minute header gave Chennai City three points. Chennai made five changes to their starting XI after the loss against TRAU in their previous match.

Lahiri opens with solid 68, lies 21st

SAN DIEGO: Anirban Lahiri got off to a solid start at the Farmers Insurance Open with a card of four-under 68, picking seven birdies in the opening round, here. Four of his birdies came at all Par-5s. Lahiri is now lying T-21, four shots off the lead. Lahiri's playing partner, Alex Noren and Patrick Reed, grabbed a share of the lead with 8-under 64 each.

Ten-man Goa hold East Bengal 1-1

Igor Angulo Alboniga of FC Goa celebrates after scoring on Friday | SPORTZPICS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

DESPITE having a man advantage, SC East Bengal failed to find the winner as they ended up sharing the spoils with FC Goa after an entertaining 1-1 draw at the Fatorda Stadium in Goa on Friday.

The result means the Gaurs remain third with 21 points from 14 games and stretch their unbeaten run to eight games. However, what will be concerning is this was their third draw on the trot and on all three occasions they have been far from impressive. The Kolkata giants remain one spot from the bottom, with 13 points from 14 games.

Robbie Fowler's team was once again by far the better team, but the former Liverpool striker should be upset that his team could not make the numerical advantage count and convert the solitary point into three. They were trailing after the first half from an Igor Angulo's strike, but they turned up in the second half a completely different team.

The Red and Golds controlled proceedings and their dominance finally bore fruit in the 65th minute as skipper Danny Fox scored from a corner, the 11th time Goa have conceded from set pieces. Incidentally, the last time Fox scored he was part of the Southampton set-up against Arsenal back in 2012.

Harmanpreet Singh, who came on in place of Jeje Lalpekhlua, had two chances to secure win but Dheeraj Singh made amends for his earlier error to thwart the striker. Edu Bedia was the man to be sent off, but the refereeing was again under the scanner as Harish Kundu failed to spot quite a few penalty shouts while he did not exactly protect Bright Enobakhare from getting fouled constantly.

NOVAVAX'S COVID-19 VACCINE WORKS, BUT LESS SO AGAINST VARIANTS

Novavax Inc. said its Covid-19 vaccine appears 89% effective based on early findings from a British study and that it also seems to work — though not as well — against new mutated versions of the virus circulating in that country and South Africa. The study also offers evidence of real-world vaccine efficacy against virus variants for the first time

15K
The study of 15,000 people aged 18-84 in Britain is still underway. 27% are over the age of 65

62
But an interim analysis found 62 participants so far have been diagnosed with COVID-19 – only six of them in the group that got vaccine and the rest who received dummy shots

50%
The firm's preliminary analysis indicated the variant first found in Britain, B.1.1.7, was detected in more than 50% of the cases

EFFICACY RATES

95.6 PER CENT
ORIGINAL NOVEL CORONAVIRUS

85.6 PER CENT
THE U.K. VARIANT — B.1.1.7

49.4 PER CENT
THE S. AFRICA VARIANT — B.1.351

Overall efficacy was 49.4 per cent in this trial, but the figure rose to 60 per cent among the 94 per cent of trial participants who were HIV-negative

Worryingly, Novavax said about a third of participants in the South Africa trial had been previously infected with the original form of the virus, while the subsequent infections during the study were largely from the variant

Sixty per cent against the variant is still pretty good. Clearly, the Novavax vaccine prevented severe disease which is really in the end what matters the most

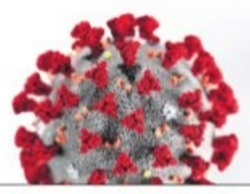
Amesh Adalja, a doctor and senior scholar at the Johns Hopkins Center for Health Security

(NOTE: THE FINDINGS ARE BASED ON CASES THAT OCCURRED AT LEAST A WEEK AFTER THE 2ND DOSE)

A FIRST IN VAX DEVELOPMENT

The studies are the first to assess a Covid-19 vaccine's performance against both the UK and South Africa variants in the real world

Pfizer and Moderna have previously said their vaccines remain effective against the variants, but their studies were based on lab research



HOW NOVAVAX VACCINE WORKS

Unlike the Pfizer, Moderna and AstraZeneca vaccines, which deliver the genetic instructions that make human cells create a key protein of the virus, the Novavax shot injects the proteins directly into the body to evoke an immune response

SPREADING STRAIN

The US said Thursday it had found its first two cases of the B.1.351 variant on American soil, leading to concern it could reignite the national infection rate, which is currently in decline

INFECTED FOR A 2ND TIME

More concerning is what the study showed about a totally different question — the chances of people getting COVID-19 a second time, said the leader of the South African study, Shabir Madhi of the University of the Witwatersrand in Johannesburg.

Tests suggested that nearly a third of study participants had been previously infected, yet rates of new infections in the placebo group were similar

Past infection with early variants of the virus in South Africa does not protect" against infection with the new one. There doesn't seem to be any protection derived

Shabir Madhi of the University of the Witwatersrand in Johannesburg

J&J 1-shot vaccine shows 66% efficacy in Phase 3

Long-awaited jab offers strong protection, but fuels concerns about variants; 100% effective in preventing hospitalisations & deaths

MEDICINE

WASHINGTON: Johnson & Johnson's long-awaited vaccine appears to protect against Covid-19 with just one shot – not as strong as some two-shot rivals but still potentially helpful for a world in dire need of more doses.

J&J said Friday that in the US and seven other countries, the single-shot vaccine was 66% effective overall at preventing moderate to severe illness, and much more protective — 85% — against the most serious symptoms.

There was some geographic variation. The vaccine worked better in the US — 72% effective against moderate to severe Covid-19 – compared to 57% in South Africa, where it was up against an easier-to-spread mutated virus.

With vaccinations off to a rocky start globally, experts had been counting on a one-dose vaccine that would stretch scarce supplies and avoid the logistics nightmare of getting people to return for boosters.

But with some other competing vaccines shown to be 95% effective after two doses, at question is whether somewhat less protection is an acceptable tradeoff to get more shots in arms quickly.

"Frankly, simple is beautiful," said Dr. Matt Hepburn of Operation Warp Speed, the US vaccine initiative.

The company said within a week, it will file an application for emergency use in the US, and then abroad. It expects to supply 100 million doses to the U.S. by June — and a billion doses globally by the end of the year. J&J wouldn't say exactly how much could be ready to ship as soon as US authorities give the green light.

These are preliminary findings from a study of 44,000 volunteers that isn't completed yet. Researchers tracked illnesses starting 28 days after vaccination – about the time when, if participants were getting a two-dose variety instead, they would have needed another shot.

After day 28, no one who got vaccinated needed hospitalization or died regardless of whether they were exposed to "regular Covid or these particularly nasty variants," Dr. Mathai Mammen, global research chief for J&J's Janssen Pharmaceutical unit, said. When the vaccinated did become infected, they had a milder illness.

J&J's shot uses a cold virus like a Trojan horse to carry the spike gene into the body, where cells make harmless copies of the protein to prime the immune system in case the real virus comes along.

J&J said its vaccine works consistently in a broad range of people: A third of participants were over age 60, and more than 40% had other illnesses putting them at risk of severe Covid-19, including obesity, diabetes and HIV.

What the numbers mean

Wouldn't people given a choice want a vaccine found to offer much more protection, such as shots made by Pfizer and Moderna that appear to be about 95% protective after the second dose?

Dr. Anthony Fauci, the top US infectious disease official, called that a messaging challenge — because the priority is to protect people from hospitalisation and death, which J&J's vaccine appears to do.

EU regulator backs use of AstraZeneca vax for all ages

MEDICINE

AMSTERDAM: The EU's medicines regulator on Friday gave AstraZeneca's coronavirus vaccine the green light to be used on adults of all ages, saying it believed it would be safe for older people too.

All eyes had been on whether the European Medicines Agency (EMA) would follow the lead of Germany, which on Wednesday declined to recommend the vaccine for over-65s, citing insufficient data.

"EMA has recommended granting a conditional marketing authorisation for Covid-19 Vaccine AstraZeneca to prevent coronavirus disease 2019 in people from 18 years of age," the Amsterdam-based EMA said in a statement.

The watchdog said that there were "not yet enough results in older participants" over 55 to show how it would work, but that "protection was expected" as an immune response was found in them, and based on experience with other vaccines.

"EMA's scientific experts considered that the vaccine can be used in older adults," it said. "More information is expected from ongoing studies, which include a higher proportion of elderly participants."

The EMA has already approved the Pfizer/BioNTech and Moderna jabs for the 27-nation European Union, plus the European Economic Area (EEA) countries of Iceland, Liechtenstein and Norway.

The deployment of British-Swedish firm AstraZeneca's vaccine has been awaited with impatience by European countries as it is cheaper to produce than its rivals, and easier to stock and transport.

Covid-19 may reduce fertility in men: Study

RESEARCH

PARIS: Covid19 may damage sperm quality and reduce fertility in men, according to a new study based on experimental evidence.

The viral disease -- which has swept the globe, claiming nearly 2.2 million lives -- can cause increased sperm cell death, inflammation and so-called oxidative stress, researchers reported Friday in the journal Reproduction.

"These findings provide the first direct experimental evidence that the male reproductive system could be targeted and damaged by Covid-19," the authors concluded.

Experts commenting on the research, however, said the capacity of the virus to compromise fertility in men remains unproven.

Covid-19 causes respiratory illness, especially in older people and those with underlying medical problems.

The world has seen more than 100 million confirmed cases since the disease emerged in central China at the end of 2019. Transmitted through respiratory droplets, the disease attacks the lungs, kidneys, intestines and heart.

It can also infect male reproductive organs, impairing sperm cell development and disrupting reproductive hormones, earlier studies have shown. The same receptors the virus uses to access lung tissue are also found in the testicles.

But the effects of the virus on the ability of men to reproduce remained unclear.

Behzad Hajizadeh Maleki and Bakhtyar Tartibian from Justus-Liebig-University in Germany searched for biological markers that might indicate a negative impact on fertility.

Analysis done at 10-day intervals for 60 days in 84 men with Covid-19 was compared to data for 105 healthy men.

In the Covid-19 patients, sperm cells showed a significant increase in markers of inflammation and oxidative stress, a chemical imbalance that can damage DNA and proteins in the body.

"These effects on sperm cells are associated with lower sperm quality and reduced fertility potential," said Maleki in a statement.

"Although these effects tended to improve over time, they remained significantly and abnormally higher in the Covid-19 patients." The more severe the disease, the bigger the changes, he added.

670 CE mosque ruins found

ARCHAEOLOGY

Archaeologists in Israel say they have discovered the remnants of an early mosque — believed to date to the earliest decades of Islam — during an excavation in the northern city of Tiberias. This mosque's foundations point to its construction roughly a generation after the death of the Prophet Mohammad, making it one of the earliest Muslim houses of worship to be studied.

Tiger that undewent novel hip replacement surgery has setback

MEDICINE

BROOKFIELD: An Amur tiger that underwent hip-replacement surgery at a zoo outside Chicago has managed to dislodge the orthopedic implant, veterinarians at Brookfield Zoo said Thursday.

Malena recovered well from Wednesday's surgery, but as she began moving about overnight the custom-made implant in a femur was dislodged. The 10-year-old tiger will undergo surgery on Saturday to remove the implant and an alternative procedure will be performed that will allow a fibrous joint to form and her leg muscles provide stability to the joint.

Dr. Mike Adkesson said veterinarians knew going into the novel surgery there was a risk of complications.

"Going into surgery, we knew if it was not successful, we still had a secondary option to relieve her discomfort," Adkesson said. "While she won't have the high level of function we were hoping to restore with the innovative total hip replacement, Malena will be able to move around comfortably without pain in her hip."

Veterinarians at Brookfield Zoo noted that, like humans, animals routinely develop degenerative problems in their joints as they age. When the tiger, Malena, arrived at the zoo last year, she had already been diagnosed with arthritis of the hip and was receiving pain relief medications.

Orthopedic surgeon Dr. James Cook, of the University of Missouri, who led the surgery team, said the 6.5-hour surgery was very challenging and took longer than expected. But he said the operation was a success and that the tiger seemed to have full range of motion in her hip after the procedure. Cook will again assist the veterinary team in a procedure to perform this revision surgery based on the original contingency plan. Malena will remain in the zoo's animal hospital until then. Amur tigers — also known as a Siberian tigers — once roamed in Russia and China, but are now endangered; Their population in the wild is estimated between 500 and 600 animals.

How much is too much? As the recent court rulings stir discussions about the layers of interpretation in POCSO cases, these survivors of child sexual abuse narrate how their experiences left them shaken, bruised and struggling to find answers

Beneath the scars

'IT BEGAN WITHOUT ANY TOUCH'

LIKE most incidents of child abuse, mine was at home, at the hands of a family member. It occurred over a span of a few years with intermittent breaks. It started off with me being in the same room as the perpetrator. I was not touched to begin with, but was witness to the person involved in self-pleasure and being made to watch.

The abuse then gradually took the shape of inappropriate touches and culminated in me being the main tool for oral gratification. Throughout this phase, I don't really remember being coerced or physically pushed to be part of the activity. However, there was always a thick cloak of associated guilt. I was not aware of what I was engaging in, but there was a definite sense of guilt due to it.

When I was around 11 years old, I ended up engaging with my younger cousin. Again, there was no coercion. It felt like a mutually agreed upon act. Guilt and shame was still the major element. It took me another 25 years to sit down with my cousin and ask her forgiveness for what occurred. She was gracious enough to brush it off, and in a way set me free from the enormous guilt that I carried throughout. A guilt which derailed my relationships, as I had convinced myself that I was a bad person and not worthy of love.

Having read somewhere that child molesters are usually abused as children themselves, I stayed away from children for the fear of abusing them. Therapy helped me to get rid of the misplaced fear and also to address the guilt which forever marks its presence in my relationships. However, it still has its impact. I still flinch when I have to share close space with any human. I am always suspicious of any touch. It has coloured all my interactions with humans, and still does.

The recent court ruling reminded me of how it all started without any touch, and made me aware of how people still get away, inflicting enormous damage, without even touching someone.

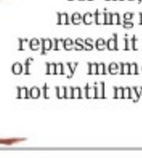
THROUGH IT ALL, TOGETHER



TREENA MUKHERJEE

TRAPPED, cornered, victims... NO, survivors and winners! In short, this was our journey since we were four years old – me and my twin sister.

We were sexually abused as children on multiple occasions, by a neighbour's servant, and another neighbour. While my sister was the precocious one and was completely aware of this reality, she never had any discussions around this while we were growing up, and was immensely protective of me even as a child.

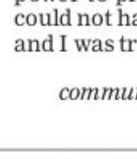
As twin sisters, we had not talked about these episodes to each other till my sister became a mother, even though both of us had undergone the trauma together.

It was a deep, dark process riddled with unsettling thoughts, panic attacks, hatred and anger. The realisation that I was abused as a child was, for me, more like connecting many dots. I had repressed it in the dungeons of my memory, and it was not until my early 20s that I got answers to questions such as why I cringe when I am intimate, why I wouldn't let go of myself in these special moments, and why afternoons were so difficult for me to get by.

As soon as I was sexually active, thoughts and memories inundated my consciousness, it was as if I was living those moments yet again. What unfolded was sheer horror as I was unable to lead a normal marital life. My husband was and has been extremely sensitive and caring, and so have some psychologists. After months of counselling sessions, many from my twin as well, I feel empowered to control my anxiety and genophobia.

Today, in our early 30s, we don't feel we are victims of child sexual abuse anymore. We have lived through it and conditioned ourselves to stop our terrible, awry thoughts midway (they do occur frequently). We are stronger than ever now!

(The writer is a media professional)



TRISHA MUKHERJEE

EVERY abused child processes abuse differently. Some become reticent, some go into a shell, some are aggressive. I became a bully and that was what defined me in my teenage and late 20s.

As a mother of two, I now react and try to protect my children from harm in many seemingly normal situations. That is what abuse has made of me. I have also turned into a phoenix of sorts and I know I am enough for myself. Abuse has made me abhor prolonged social conversations and interactions. It cuts through to very deep corners and makes you unforgiving. No matter how much soul-searching I do, I am unable to forgive and move on.

What if I let it go, let it slip away and history repeats itself? So I won't let it go as it makes me alert, exercise caution and keeps my children safe. That is what abuse has done to me.

For the longest time, I firmly believed that it was a part of the bargain, and there was no point in fretting. In retrospect, as a young girl, it was not in my power to protect myself, and I could not have done any better, and I was truly NOT to blame.

(The writer is a communications specialist)

'Allow children to express themselves'

DR SATISH KUMAR

A 26-year- old male with complaints of social anxiety. The real reason? Being abused as a child by his older cousin. A 34-year-old lady visited with complaints of fibromyalgia, depression and alcohol dependence from past 10 years. When probed, we realised she was abused by her uncle as an 8-year-old. Being abused for several years by her uncle between the ages of 7 and 14, a 22-year-old was reported with bipolar disorder. These are just some of the cases we come across.

Child Sexual Abuse (CSA) has always been under-reported though cases are high. Most times, they are brought to light after the person becomes an adult. CSA is found to be both in boys and girls though the cases reported are very low due to fear among parents about their child's future. Most of the time, a CSA act is committed by a family member, neighbour, or someone close to the child. Children below the age of 8 do not even understand that they are going through the sexual act.

It is important for parents to teach our children good and bad touch. Otherwise, these children grow up developing anxiety, depression, post-traumatic stress disorder, substance abuse, etc. Any act of sexuality – whether it involves skin-to-skin contact or not on children– can impact their adolescent life when they develop insights about sex. Adults who have experienced CSA are reported to having many physical disorders too. Parents should allow children to talk about their experiences rather than repressing them.

SHOW TIME

Long queues, houseful spaces... theatre owners hope to return to old times with restrictions being lifted in cinema halls

MONIKA MONALISA

MOVIE theatre owners are finally heaving a sigh of relief as the Union Home Ministry has lifted the cap on 50 per cent occupancy at theatres. The decision, which also relaxes the cap on other public gatherings like swimming pools, exhibition halls, religious places, etc, has come into effect as the number of Covid-19 cases has come down.

Calling it a welcome move, Anand, a ticket booking clerk at Srinivasa Theatre in SG Palya, Koramangala, says that theatres did well even with 50 per cent occupancy owing to festivals and holidays. "For Pongal, we were playing Vijay and Vijay Sethupathi-starrer Master, and other films. The shows were always houseful," says Anand emphasising that even if the demand was high, they continued following BBMP's safety guidelines. With some big Kannada releases lined up, Anand is expecting crowds to throng theatres just like old times. "Dhruva Sarja's Pogaru is releasing on Feb.19. Since all the seats will be filled, you will see a huge crowd in front of the ticket counter," says a confident Anand.

People queue at INOX in Garuda Swagath Mall, Jayanagar, on Friday | MEGHANA SASTRY

I am a movie buff myself and was thrilled to hear the news. It's the best feeling to watch a movie with friends, family while sharing a tub of popcorn. The news will bring relief to many producers who can now plan the release of their movies. I have not gone to a theatre since the lockdown, but now I plan to do so

Radhika Narayan, actor

However, multiplexes and single-screen theatres are still waiting for a revised SoP from the Ministry of Information and Broadcasting. "Since full occupancy is effective from Feb. 1, we are hoping to get the details by Jan. 31," says Mohit Bhargava, regional director of INOX Leisure, who adds that post the lockdown, eight out of their nine outlets were functional. He also mentions that they are expecting the crowd to pick up on weekends.

Though the news sounds exciting, the Sandalwood fraternity is practical, not wanting to have very high expectations. Director-turned-producer Guru Deshpande says it is surely good news but feels that viewers also need to be convinced about heading to theatres. "Movies with big stars will get a mass audience, but those with newcomers and middle-order actors will be affected. With vaccinations still being in the initial stages of roll-out, I am not sure how much of a crowd we are going to get," says Deshpande.

MASALA POHA MIXTURE

INGREDIENTS

- Poha: 1 cup
- Peanuts: Handful
- Oil: 1 tbsp
- Curry leaves: 3-4
- Green chilli: 2-3, broken
- Roasted chana: handful
- Red chilli whole: 2-3
- Cornflakes: Half cup
- Rice puffs: Half cup
- Salt to taste

METHOD

- Dry-roast poha in a kadai over medium heat till crisp. Transfer to a bowl and keep aside. Heat oil in the same kadai, add curry leaves, green chillies, peanuts, roasted chana dal, whole red chilli, corn flakes and rice puffs. Saute over low heat.
- Add the poha and mix gently so that the poha flakes do not break.
- Sprinkle salt as per taste.

FIT BIT

PARIVARTANASANA

(STANDING SPINAL TWIST POSE)

In Sanskrit, 'Parivrtta' means 'to turn around' or 'revolve', and 'asana' means 'pose'. It is a leg balancing posture with twisting the spinal cord to either side of the body. It is a basic asana which invigorates the functions of the digestive and excretory system, aiding in proper absorption, assimilation and elimination of wastes from the body. This is a very good yoga asana for kids as this posture demands a good support of concentration to keep the legs balanced in a straight line which stimulates the functions of the brain. It activates th Manipura (Solar Plexus or Navel) Chakra.

STEPS

- Stand on the mat.
- Place your right leg in front of your left leg in such a way that both toes are on the same line and the legs shoulder-level apart.
- While inhaling, lift your both hands up and interlock the fingers with palms facing up.
- Exhale and twist your torso towards the right side and turn your neck as well in line with the right shoulder.
- You can stay in this posture for 10-15 seconds or as long as you are comfortable while maintaining a normal breathing.
- With inhalation bring your torso forward. With the exhalation bring your hands down and legs together.
- Repeat the same procedure on your left side with your left leg forward.
- Beginners can keep the legs parallel instead of keeping in a straight line.
- Advanced practitioners can further increase the distance between the legs which can intensify the twist on the vertebra.

BENEFITS

- Strengthens the neck, shoulder, lower back and abdominal muscles.
- Improves the elasticity of the intercostal muscles which in turn improves the lungs vital capacity.
- Opens the chest muscles, increases blood circulation. Hence, excess strain on the blood vessels can be eliminated.
- Regular practice enhances the secretion of digestive enzymes, assisting in proper digestion.
- Helps burn excess fat in the abdominal region.
- Decompresses pressure on the lower back and proves to be very effective for lower back pain.
- Regular practice can improve memory power and concentration.
- Cures uterus problems, strengthens lumbar region, arms and leg muscles.

LIMITATIONS

- People with hernia, slipped disc, spinal injuries, cervical spondylitis and recent abdominal surgery should avoid this.
- Those with high blood pressure must be cautious.
- Pregnant women should avoid this.

GREEN THEORY

From Ferrero Rocher to Toblerone and almond flavours, the humble betel leaf is getting a modern twist at this newly-opened paan studio where unconventional fillings meet the traditional staple

MONIKA MONALISA

TOBLERONE, Lindt, Ferrero Rocher... what do these have to do with an after-lunch digestive? If you head to The Paan Studio in Fraser Town, don't be surprised when you have to choose from over 135 flavours that the green bundle brings along.

It doesn't matter how heavy an Indian meal is, it just isn't complete without paan. The humble betel leaf which has been a part of our age-old culinary tradition comes with fillings such as dry fruit, roasted almond, chocolate, to name a few. Not just that, they have around 50 flavours of chocolate paan, with prices starting from ₹100 and going up to ₹250. One of the crowd favourites is Nutella paan which comes in a cone. If you prefer Indian mithais, then you can try out rasmalai and kulfi in your paan too. And if you are someone who is health conscious, they also have different varieties of dry fruit paan, which can be customised.

This recently-opened studio, which welcomes its customers with an old Lambretta in funky colours, has already been gaining popularity among Bengalureans. "It's funny but the Lamby at the entrance is like a metaphor of presenting old traditions in a new avatar," says Syed Mateen, co-owner of the studio. The outlet is the brainchild of Mateen and his brother Syed Khaleel, who were earlier running an event management company, which went through a tough time due to the pandemic. The 33-year-old entrepreneur adds that they get close to 200 customers every day. "Nowadays paan is looked down upon because it is associated with tobacco, but betel leaves themselves have a lot of medicinal properties like being rich in Vitamin C and being a good source of calcium. At our studio, we try to experiment with various flavours by going tobacco-free so that people can enjoy it guilt-free," Mateen explains. He also mentions that kattha, the brown paste smeared on the leaf, is available at ₹600 per kg, but the ones they use is priced at ₹3,500 because of the various herbs it contains.

PRATHIK SHETTY

GLASS APART

Behind every Instagrammable cocktail, is the right glassware! While glassware is an essential part of presentation, it would pay to know that it is in the right glassware that a cocktail finds its best flavour. With an array of glasses in different shapes and sizes behind the bar, how does a bartender pick the right glass for a cocktail? Quite naturally, contents of the cocktail, such as the type of alcohol, non-alcoholic mixer and type of ice, influence the taste of the drink, but the glass plays the role of enhancing its flavours.

Here are a few time-tested tips to help you select the right glass for you cocktail:

Cocktail glass: A cocktails glass refers to the typical wide-mouthed stem glass that is traditionally used to serve a martini. This kind of glass is best suited for drinks that are served without ice, and are rich in aroma and flavours, as the shape of the glass allows the nose of the drinker to come close to the surface of the drink every time they take a sip. The stem allows the glass to held in such a way that the drink does not come in contact with the hand of the person holding it, thereby maintaining its cold temperature. Today, this kind of glass, along with its many variants, is used to serve cosmopolitans, gimlets, grasshoppers, and more.

Highball glass: A highball glass is used for cocktails that contain a large amounts of non-alcoholic mixers, and those which are poured over blocks of ice. Given that the cocktail contains ice and that it has more liquid content as well, this kind of a glass structure makes it convenient for the drinker to hold as well as consume the drink with ease. Highball glasses are usually used to serve cocktails like long island ice tea. The Collins glass, which is a taller and narrow-mouthed version of the highball glass, is used to serve cocktails like cuba libre, wherein the carbonation of the cola has to be maintained.

Lowball glass: A lowball glass is used to served cocktails that require ingredients to be muddled in the glass. Therefore, such glasses are shorter to allow the bartender to muddle the ingredients, like mint, lemon, spices etc., easily. These glasses also have a thicker bottom for the same purpose. Classic cocktails like the Old Fashioned and Negroni are served in lowball glasses.

Irish coffee glass: The Irish coffee glass is built with a small handle on the side to allow the drinker to hold the glass comfortably, especially because the drink is served warm. Such glasses are made with heat-resistant glass, and also used to serve other hot cocktails like hot toddy.

Wine glass: Although not a cocktail, each kind of wine deserves its own glass type owing to its unique qualities. The sight of a wine glass usually hints at a time for merriment and relaxation. And what makes it better is pairing it with the right glass. Red wine is usually served a wide-bottomed stem glass, which has enough room to swirl the wine, allowing it to aerate. White wine is served a stem glass that has a smaller mouth so as to contain the wine from getting oxidised too fast, Champagne on the other hand, is popularly served in tall and thin flute glasses, which preserve the bubbles and protect the sparkling wine from going flat.

Ramarjuna trips on commercial stereotypes

A SHARADHAA

With Ramarjuna, Aniissh, the actor-director-producer of the film, had the ideal formula for a blockbuster but falls short by miles. Although it had the ingredients to achieve a distinct identity, it falls prey to the commercial recipe of mechanically following what one considers to be demand of the audience.

Prominently dealing with the coverage of insurance, and the medical and political scandals surrounding it, the film is set in a small town in the outskirts of an urban city where a large group of middle-class people find a saviour in Ram (Aniissh). An insurance agent, who is just a phone call away to solve the problems of each house, he wants everyone to be covered with an insurance policy.

He succeeds but realises the many loopholes surrounding the insurance arrangement, which is brought to light following the death of about 20 people in his area, eventually exposing a medical scam.

An unflappable Ram takes an infuriated Arjuna avatar, chasing and finishing off the culprits behind the scam. Whether he succeeds in bringing justice to his people forms the crux of the action-thriller. With acting, directing and producing Ramarjuna, Aniissh had taken up a lot on his young shoulders. Coming to acting, the actor has not dropped out of his regular formula of a commercial hero and delivers what is expected out of him. However, this being his first step towards direction, the newcomer will have ample space for learning and unlearning.

Aniissh had good and sensitive content, with various subplots, however, the execution has been sensationalised with commercial aspects. Aniissh could have come out with an edge-of-the-seat thriller, had he cut down on the violence and worked towards keeping the suspense going. With the excitement of covering the entire scope, he dilutes the core subject and the story becomes predictable in a short time of the film's running.

Bringing a familiar face on a different note was a good decision by Aniissh who had actors Rangayana Raghu Peter, and Sharath Lohithashwa playing fresh characters. There is Nishvika Naidu who charms in the first half, and playing Ram's love interest comes as good support through the film.

Overall, Aniissh's capability as a director cannot be ruled out. He can certainly do better in the coming films provided he is serious about his directorial aspirations and can circumspect before taking up films.

With a good background score innparts and a couple of medleys, Ramarjuna by, for and of Aniissh makes for a one-time watch.

Our Friend to hit Indian theatres on Feb 12

CE FEATURES

The comedy drama Our Friend, starring Dakota Johnson and Casey Affleck, will hit Indian screens on February 12.

Gabriela Cowperthwaite's upcoming directorial tells the tale of a husband, wife and their best friend, and is based on the true story of the Teague family.

The storyline traces how journalist Matt (Affleck), his wife Nicole (Johnson) and their two daughters led a happy life, till Nicole's diagnosis of terminal cancer.

Then comes their best friend Dane Faucheux (actor Jason Segel), who helps them sail through the plight with the power of love.

Affleck recently said in an interview with etonline.com that the plot along with the cast was one of the factors that drew him to the role.

"First of all, I loved everybody involved," he said.

"It's a true story about a family that's in crisis and they have this old friend who drops everything in his life to come and help kind of get them through it. I don't know what other people would say about what the meaning of the movie is or whatever, but for me, I liked the message that if you need a friend, be a friend, you know? If there's nothing, there's no better way to feel, to lift your own spirits, than to show up for someone else in a totally selfless way. I loved that," he added about the PVR release.

Boman Irani joins the cast of MayDay

CE FEATURES

Boman Irani has joined the cast of MayDay. The actor will be essaying a top airline owner in the film.

MayDay is fronted by Ajay Devgn and Amitabh Bachchan. The cast also features Rakul Preet Singh, Angira Dhar and Aakanksha Singh. Ajay, who is also the director, essays a pilot in the edge-of-the-seat drama.

Recently, Amitabh Bachchan shared his experience of joining the film's sets. "Dear Lord .. these first days on new films are always such a nightmare .. Petrified and in constant apprehension .. wondering what shall happen and if it happens will it be acceptable and passed .. Want to run away and hide," he wrote.

Boman Irani was last seen in a guest appearance in Maska (2020). He essays former cricketer and commentator Farokh Engineer in Kabir Khan's 83.

Roberrt faces release issue in Telugu, Darshan approaches KFCC

CE FEATURES

CHALLENGING Star Darshan made an urgent visit to Karnataka Film Chamber of Commerce on Friday. Reason: The upcoming film, Roberrt, directed by Tharun Kishore Sudhir, which was slated to be released on March 11 in two languages -- Kannada and Telugu. However, now, the distributors bringing the film in Telugu want the release to be pushed by two weeks, in order to give priority to the local films out there, and this has not gone well with team Roberrt.

Darshan, who has always stood by producers, voiced his opinion at a media interaction held at KFCC, and said, "Karnataka and Kannadigas and our Chamber have always honoured and welcomed other language films wholeheartedly, and allowed them to release the film without any obstacles. But this is not the treatment and respect we are receiving for our films from that end. This needs to be sorted out." He added, "I am a 50 films-old- actor, and I can manage. However, let us put forth the case of young actors. Considering the fact that they are going all out to release the film in other languages, this kind of obstacles might create a big impact on their future."

Producer Umapathy said he hopes the matter will be resolved soon. "I extended the matter to Darshan Sir, who immediately took measures to sort out the issue. In all likelihood, it will be done soon. In my opinion, it has to be a win-win situation for both the industries, and let's continue the relationship like before."
